HUNDRED LIVES SNUFFED OUT

Denver and Rio Grande Train Crashes Through Trestle Into Torrent.

83 BODIES FOUND

Only Four Are Rescued from Two Coach Loads and Baggage Car.

THIRTY PERSONS ARE MISSING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PUEBLO, COL., Aug. 8.—The wreck of the World's Fair Flyer on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, near Eden, seven miles north of Pueblo, last evening, proves to have been one of the greatest railroad disasters in the history of the country. Two crowded passenger cars and a baggage car were engulfed in the torrent that tore out a trestle spanning Steeles hallow, otherwise known as Dry creek, and, so far as known tonight, only three of the occupants of these cars escaped death. Two sleeping cars and a dining car, completing the train, remained on the track at the edge of the abyss, and none of their occupants was killed or injured.

How many perished probably never will be definitely known, for the treacherous sands are drifting over the bodies.

Search for the dead was begun about midnight on an extensive scale, and is still in progress tonight. All corpses found were brought to Pueblo and placed in four morgues here. At 8 o'clock this evening 76 bodies had been recovered, and of these 30 had been identified.

During the day bodies were recovered all the way along Fountain river, from the scene of the wreck to this city. At 1 o'clock this afternoon, two bodies were taken from the stream at First street, Pueblo, more than eight miles from the point where the disaster occurred, and it is probable that some may be recovered even farther down stream. None of the bodies is badly mutilated, and all are in such condition as to be recognizable. Many identifications have been made by articles found on the bodies, no persons who viewed them recognizing the features.

MIKADO'S SHIPS ARE REPULSED

BLOODY LAND FIGHT

Japanese Capture Wolf's Hill, but at Terrible Cost to Themselves.

HEAPS OF SLAIN LIE UNBURIED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Aug. 9, 10 A. M.—A detachment of Cossacks today approached Gensan on the east coast of Korea, but retreated immediately.

CHEFOO, Aug. 8.—11 p. m.—The firing of heavy guns at intervals of one minute has been distinctly heard in the direction of Port Arthur since 10:30 p. m., the accoustic conditions of the atmosphere being unusually favorable.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, dated at Mukden August 7:

"Telegrams received today from Port Arthur and from the commander of the squadron, (Rear Admiral Withoft) state that the cruisers Bayan, Askold, Pallada and Novik and some gunboats steamed out of the harbor on July 26 for the purpose of bombarding the enemy's positions. They were attacked by the Japanese battleship Chin-Yen, the protected cruisers Chiyoda, Itsukushima and Matsushima, and two second-class cruisers, with 30 torpedo boats.

"An eight inch shell from the Bayan burst in the stern of the Itsukushima, placing that ship out of action. Thereupon all the Japanese ships steered for the open sea. At the same time, the Chiyoda was damaged by a Russian mine. As the Chiyoda was sinking by the head she steered toward Talien bay. A shot from battery 22 also damaged a Japanese gunboat, which was sighted.

"On July 27, in view of the Japanese having taken the general offensive against our land positions, the Bayan, Captain Reitzenstein; the battleship Retvizan, the Pallada, Askold and Novik, the coast defense ships Gremiashchi and Otvashni, the gunboat Gilak and 12 torpedo boats, under command of Rear Admiral Leschinsky were ordered to support our right flank at the demand of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel (commander of the military forces at Port Arthur.)

"Our ships preceded by mine dredges, steamed toward Lun-Gan-Ta from where they bombared the Japanese positions until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. On their return, which they effected with the same precaution, a mine exploded underneath one of the dredges.

"Rear Admiral Withoft estimated that the enemy's naval forces which were put off Port Arthur July 30, consisted of five battleships, four armored cruisers, 10 other cruisers and 48 torpedo craft."

Refugees Story of Fight.

CHEFOO, Aug. 8.—6 p. m.—During the last 24 hours 200 Chinese and 50 Russian refugees have arrived here from Port Arthur. They almost all left there on August 3. It has been impossible to obtain confirmation of the report of the sinking off Port Arthur of a Japanese cruiser, but that this occurred is not denied, as the vessel is said to have sunk in a place where mines have recently been laid.

Two French newspaper correspondents who made an attempt to reach Porth Arthur by junk, saw the Japanese fleet on August 6. They were twice arrested and turned back. They heard nothing of the alleged sinking of a Japanese cruiser. They counted 24 vessels of the Japanese fleet ranged in a double semi-circle in front of the harbor.

The refugees report that the Russian cruiser Bayan was struck by a fragment from one of the mines which the Japanese constantly send in toward the harbor entrance. The explosion occurred at the spot just previously vacated by the Russian gunboat Giliak, which had been in that position for months acting as guard ship. The Bayan bears marks of projectiles of various sizes, showing that she has been hit 218 times since the beginning of the war.

It is stated positively that Vice Admiral Skrydloff was not on board the Russian torpedo boat destroyer, Lieut. Burukuff.

This last batch of refugees, several of whom witnessed part of the three days' fighting of week before last, deny that the Japanese were one verst (.66 of a mile) from the Russian fortress. They say that the Japanese troops are from 10 to 15 versts from the inner forts.

The Japanese are endeavoring to work their trenches nearer the fortress. The

CANNON IS SURE OF THE ELECTION

Speaker Says Illinois Is Safe and That Roosevelt Is a Winner.

DAYTON IS NOT WORRIED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.

Speaker Cannon, Representative Dayton of West Virginia and Representative Burton of Ohio, were among the callers at the White House today. "Uncle Joe" and Mr. Dayton met at the door of the executive offices and then adjourned to the shade of a tree on the lawn to talk over the situation in West Virginia. Seating themselves on the green grass, with their backs propped against a tree, they discussed politics in an earnest manner until Secretary Taft of the war department came along and joined in the conversation. Secretary Taft was invited to squat on the grass, but as it is not the easiest thing in the world for a 300-pound man to comfortably dispose himself on a level surface, he preferred to stand, thank you, and Cannon and Dayton rose.

"Uncle Joe," when asked if he still considered the situation in Illinois satisfactory from a Republican standpoint, said:

"Yes, indeed. Everything is all right in Illinois. We will carry the state by a mighty big majority."

"Do you adhere to your belief that Roosevelt will be elected?" he was asked.

"Good God, young man," he said, "if I was as certain of salvation in the hereafter as I am that Roosevelt will succeed himself, I would rest easier of nights."

Speaker Cannon is on his way to Vermont and when asked if he intended to make some speeches in that state, he said:

"Yes, I will emit a few yells up there."

The Vermont campaign promises to be a most interesting one, and the leaders of both parties will watch the outcome with interest. The election will be held the first Tuesday in September, and the Republican majority will determine the views of many men as to the general result in the November following. Secretary Wilson has accepted invitations to speak in Vermont.

Representative Dayton apparently has no fear of the outcome in his district and state. He represents the district in which Henry G. Davis, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, resides, but he does not credit Mr. Davis with great ability to add strength to the Democratic ticket. He said:

"I just dropped in for a few minutes with the president to tell him that West Virginia will give him 25,000 majority and do it with ease. There is no Republican disaffection in my state, so far as the national ticket is concerned, and that may as well be understood. The nomination of Mr. Davis for second place on the Democratic ticket will not add 100 votes to the ticket. People who are skeptical about what we will do have nothing to do but wait for November and see the results. I put 25,000 as our majority on the national ticket."

Representative Burton called on the president to arrange for the reception by the chief executive of the members of the inter-parliamentary union. The date for this reception of prominent legislators of Europe has been fixed for September 24. The members of the union are to be shown all over the United States and will hold their congress at St. Louis. Every country in Europe, except Russia, Spain, Greece, Bulgaria and Servia, is represented in the membership of the union. L. W. STRATER.

CAMPAIGN OPENED BY REPUBLICANS

STARTS OFF WITH VIGOR

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.

With their formal opening today, the headquarters of the Republican national committee, at No. 1 Madison avenue, became the scene of much activity and the members of the national executive committe are now there, hard at work. Though the management of the national campaign is still necessarily in somewhat of a chaotic condition, much has already been done to straighten out matters and the executive committee was busy this afternoon discussing plans and problems which will make themselves felt later in the campaign.

Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia, a member of the executive committee, reached headquarters at 8 o'clock this morning, having just come over from Washington. Speaking of West Virginia, Senator Scott said:

"The possibility of West Virginia going Democratic has not entered by mind. It is not in the range of possibility. The state is bound to go Republican."

George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the National committee, who has been in this city since Saturday, appeared early at headquarters and was warmly greeted by Senator Scott and by L. A. Coolidge, who has been at headquarters for several days. Mr. Cortelyou said he was glad to begin the arduous duties of the campaign, and the way in which he took hold of things bore out what he said. He walked about through the 15 rooms of the suite, gave his ideas as to how the furniture should be arranged, and then sat down at the desk where for three months he will direct all his energies to bringing about the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks. After greeting his interviewers, the national chairman, in a friendly chat, said:

"I am not going to talk politics during this campaign, and I never want to be quoted, but I shall talk freely to newspaper men, nevertheless. Everything here will be free and above board. There will be no secrecy or mystery about this office. We will tell the newspaper men many things, and many things we will not tell them, but the doors will never be closed to the press."

Cornelius N. Bliss appeared soon after the arrival of Mr. Cortelyou and greeted those present.

Gov. Franklin Murphy of New Jersey reached headquarters shortly before noon.

"This talk you hear that New Jersey is a doubtful state is all nonsense," Mr. Murphy said. "There is every reason to believe New Jersey will give a big Republican majority this fall. The state is safe. It is prosperous from one end to the other and the people are well satisfied with the present administration."

INDIAN AMUSED HIMSELF BY KILLING YOUNG GIRLS

PENDER, NEB., Aug. 8.—George Forecloud, a full blooded Winnebago, aged 25, has been held for the murder of Cora Elk, also a Winnebago, the fourth girl he has killed in two years. He had no reason for killing any of them, but apparently amused himself when intoxicated by murdering young girls.

Negroes Stab Strikers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—During a fight shortly after midnight between a crowd of negroes employed in the stock yards since the strike and a crowd of rioters, Frederick Baum and Charles Oyx, strikers, were seriously stabbed. The police broke up the fight, but when they attempted to capture the negroes they opened fire. The police returned the fire, but nobody was injured.

DEATH SENTENCE TO BE EXECUTED

Roosevelt Refuses to Interfere in Case of Brutal Negro Criminal.

PRESIDENT GIVES HIS VIEWS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Roosevelt has declined to interfere in the case of John W. Burley, a negro confined in the jail of the District of Columbia under sentence of death, for the crime of assault, the victim having been a little girl, 4½ years old. The president has directed that the sentence of the jury be carried into effect on August 26, as decreed.

An application was made to the president to commute the sentence of Burley to imprisonment for life, it being alleged that the prisoner was of mind so weak as to be irresponsible for his crime. The subject was referred to Attorney General Moody. He investigated the case and reported to the president today fully as to the fact. In rejecting the application for the commutation of Burley's sentence, President Roosevelt made the following memorandum:

White House, Washington, Aug. 8, 1904.

The application for the commutation of sentence of John W. Burley is denied. This man committed the most hideous crime known to our laws, and twice before he has committed crimes of a similar, though less horrible, character.

In my judgment there is no justification whatever for paying heed to the allegations that he is not of sound mind, allegations made after the trial and conviction. Nobody would pretend that there has ever been any such degree of mental unsoundness shown as would make people even consider sending him to an asylum if he had not committed this crime. Under such circumstances he should certainly be esteemed sane enough to suffer the penalty for his monstrous deed.

I have scant sympathy with the plea of insanity advanced to save a man from the consequences of crime when, unless that crime had been committed, it would have been impossible to persuade any responsible authority to commit him to an asylum as insane. Among the most dangerous criminals, and especially among those prone to commit this particular kind of offense, there are plenty of a temper so fiendish or so brutal as to be incompatible with any other than a brutish order of intelligence; but these men are nevertheless responsible for their acts, and nothing more tends to encourage crime among such men than the belief that through the plea of insanity, or any other method, it is possible for them to escape paying the just penalty of their crimes.

The crime in question is one to the existence of which we largely owe the existence of that spirit of lawlessness which takes form in lynching. It is a crime so revolting that the criminal is not entitled to one particle of sympathy from any human being. It is essential that the punishment for it should be not only as certain but as swift as possible.

The jury in this case did their duty by recommending the infliction of the death penalty. It is to be regretted that we do not have special provision for more summary dealing with this type of cases. The more we do what in us lies to secure certain and swift justice in dealing with those cases, the more effectively do we work against the growth of that lynching spirit which is so full of evil omen for this people because it seeks to avenge one infamous crime by the commission of another of equal infamy.

The application is denied and the sentence will be carried into effect.

PITTSBURGH COAL AGENT HELD UP AT NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Highwaymen attempted to hold up Capt. Charles M. Espy at a late hour last night, evidently bent on robbery. The captain showed fight, encountered his assailants, and although knocked down twice, he succeeded in protecting himself until assistance frightened off the footpads and they escaped without getting anything. Captain Espy represents here the Brown coal interests of Pittsburgh, and he takes a cruise with Capt. Samuel S. Brown every winter on the Troubador. He was on his way home when confronted by three men.

TURKEY GETS AN ULTIMATUM

TIME FOR ACTION

Chekib Bey Informed That No More Dallying Will Be Tolerated.

WARSHIPS MEAN BUSINESS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.

Secretary Hay today sent a practical ultimatum to the Turkish government through its minister here, Chekib Bey. Deprived of a direct avenue of communication with the porte, because of the peculiar position of Minister Leishman, Mr. Hay was quick to avail himself of an opportunity presented by the visit of the Turkish diplomat.

Chekib, tall, nervous and anxious, was received almost as soon as he arrived. He had come to say that "of course there is nothing in these newspaper stories that the European fleet was being sent to Smyrna to menace Turkey." While not believing the reports he desired to send his foreign office a denial authorized by the state department.

The conversations of Secretary Hay with the visiting diplomats are never made public property, but it is known that immediately the Turkish minister spoke the object of his visit, he received an answer which immensely surprised and even shocked him. He was told that the stories in the newspapers of the departure of the European squadron, consisting of the Olympia, Baltimore and Cleveland, from Villefranche for Smyrna, and the departure from Lisbon of the collier Hannibal to provide them with coal, was not only true but that the published statement that they were to make a show of force to Turkey was also true.

Told About Battleships.

It was further impressed upon Chekib Bey that the newspaper descriptions of this government's anger at being denied an answer of any kind to the diplomatic requests recently made were conservative and quite correct. The secretary was not ready to specify just what the United States would do if the porte did not become more reasonable, but that was not because the administration feared to act drastically. The Turkish minister was also informed that the North Atlantic battleship squadron, instead of coming to the home station, would linger for a time at Gibraltar, where it just arrived, so as to be conveniently located in the event there was necessity to strengthen the force in Turkish waters.

Mr. Hay, it is understood, told the Turkish minister that he hoped the porte might appreciate that this government's patience was at an end. He has been unable, through Minister Leishman, to make any impression with such messages.

Chekib Bey left the secretary's office apparently much impressed. He positively declined to say a word regarding his visit or its results further than to admit that he came to inquire about the newspaper reports he had read. He had intended leaving Washington, but assumed that this incident would longer detain him in the city. He has cabled his government the facts regarding his interviews with Secretary Hay.

PLAIN DISSENT FROM RUSSIA

It is Embodied in Secretary Hay's Note on Contraband of War.

TAKES BROAD VIEW

Fuel, Cotton and Foodstuffs Should Be Allowed to Enter Non-Blockaded Ports.

AMBASSADORS ARE NOTIFIED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—"The recognition, in principle, of the treatment of coal and other fuel and raw cotton as absolutely contraband of war might ultimately lead to a total inhibition of the sale by neutrals to the people of belligerent states of all articles which could be finally converted to military uses. Such an extension of the principle by treating coal and other fuel and raw cotton as absolutely contraband of war, simply because they are shipped by a neutral to a non-blockaded port of a belligerent would not appear to be in accord with the recognized and lawful rights of a neutral commerce."

This is a summary of a declaration by Secretary Hay on the right of neutral nations during war. It was embodied in a circular to American ambassadors to Europe, which was issued from the state department June 10 last, but for some reason was withheld from the public, although certain shippers who inquired at the department after their rights were supplied with copies. The circular is based on a declaration by the Russian government that coal, alcohol and other fuel have been declared contraband. Its text follows:

Text of the Note.

Neutral commerce in articles conditionally contraband of war. Department of State, Washington, June 10, 1904.

Gentlemen—It appears from public documents that coal, naphtha, alcohol and other fuel have been declared contraband of war by the Russian government.

These articles enter into general consumption in the arts of peace, to which they are vitally necessary. They are, therefore, not as "absolutely contraband of war," like articles that are intended primarily for military purposes in time of war, such as ordnance, arms, ammunition, etc., but rather as "conditionally contraband;" that is to say, articles that may be used for or converted to the purposes of war or peace, according to circumstances. They may rather be classed with provisions and foodstuffs of ordinarily innocent use, but which may become absolutely contraband of war when actually and especially destined for the military or naval forces of the enemy.

In the war between the United States and Spain the navy department, general orders No. 492, issued June 26, 1898, declared, in article 19, as follows: "The term contraband of war comprehends only articles having a belligerent destination." Among articles absolutely contraband it declared ordnance, machine guns and other articles of military or naval warfare. It declared as conditionally contraband "coal, when destined for a naval station, a port of call, or a ship or ships of the enemy." It likewise declared provisions to be conditionally contraband "when destined for the enemy's ships or a place that is besieged."

The above rules as to articles absolutely or conditionally contraband of war were adopted in the naval war code, promulgated by the navy department June 27, 1900.

While it appears from the examples mentioned that rice, foodstuffs, horses, beasts of burden and other animals, which may be used in time of war, are declared to be contraband of war only when they are transported for account of or in destination to the enemy; yet all kinds of fuel—such as coal, naphtha, alcohol—are classified along with arms, ammunition and other articles intended for warfare on land or sea.

The test in determining whether articles

GEN. STOESSEL IS REPORTED TO HAVE KILLED HIMSELF

Port Arthur Contains 10,000 Sick and Wounded, and Japanese Are Besought to Send Hospital Ship Mongolia to Take Them Away.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—According to the correspondent of the Morning Post at Shanghai, it is reported there that Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, in command of the military force at Port Arthur, has committed suicide and that panic prevails in the citadel.

The correspondent states further that there are 10,000 sick and wounded persons at Port Arthur, and that the Russians are negotiating with the Japanese to send the hospital ship Mongolia away full of sick.

Marquis Oyama, commander-in-chief of the Japanese forces in Manchuria, has proceeded north, and expects to attack Liao-Yang August 20.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—(Special Cable.)—Gen. Stoessel's report telling of the disastrous repulse of the Japanese in a general advance on Port Arthur, in which the Japanese lost over 10,000 men, was the chief topic of conversation in all quarters today. The successful outcome of the great battle which raged around the walls of the fortress for three days gives ground for the hope that the Japanese will never succeed in gaining possession of the place.

A dispatch telling of the sinking of two Japanese vessels in front of the fortress was also the cause of great rejoicing.

GENERAL TAX MEASURE PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Bill Now Goes to West Virginia Senate—Other Business Done by the Lower Branch.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 8.—The general tax bill passed the house today and now goes to the senate for confirmation. The bill as passed is a substitute for the measure as originally reported and provides for the regulation of the liquor traffic tax on hotels and restaurants, breweries and distilleries, bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables and other privileges.

The bill provides for a tax on real and personal property of 16 cents for state purposes and 8 cents for school purposes for the year 1905, to be reduced the following year to 8 cents state tax and 5 cents for schools. After 1907 the bill contemplates the entire elimination of the state tax and retaining 5 cents for the support of free schools. The bill taxing collateral inheritances, as amended in the senate, was presented to the house and passed with only one negative vote on the Republican side, members of the minority voting against it.

Another important measure passed was that providing for a reduction in the board of directors of the West Virginia Asylum for Incurables from seven to five, and also making each county support its inmates.

Senator Cornwell of Humpshire, the Democratic nominee for governor, arrived tonight. The candidate made a brief address and was followed by other speakers. References to a "White Man's Party," the Democratic slogan, was greeted with prolonged cheering.

Earthquake in New Zealand.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 9.—The heaviest earthquake which New Zealand has experienced in many years occurred at 10:22 o'clock this morning. Several public and private buildings were seriously damaged. The shock was general on both islands. No loss of life has been reported.

ADMIRALTY TRIAL FOR KNIGHT COMMANDER CASE

Russia Will Take It Out of Hands of Vladivostok Prize Court.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—The case of the British steamer Knight Commander, which was sunk by the Vladivostok squadron and afterward condemned by a prize court at Vladivostok, will be reviewed by a special admiralty court. On account of the strong position taken in this case by Great Britain, Russia has agreed that such a court shall determine the question whether the vessel was a lawful prize, and Foreign Minister Lamsdorff has telegraphed Viceroy Alexieff requesting that all documents on which the prize court based its judgment be sent to St. Petersburg.

While Russia has not abandoned her claim to the right to sink neutral vessels carrying contraband of war in cases of "direst necessity," it is safe to say that after the action taken on August 5th, (when Russia issued instructions to naval commanders not to sink neutral merchantmen with contraband on board in the future except in cases of direst necessity, but in cases of emergency to send prizes into neutral ports) no case will again arise, but it seems questionable how whether Great Britain will be satisfied with the guarantees as to the future or with complete proof that the Knight Commander was a legal prize and, therefore, subject to confiscation.

If Great Britain still demands compensation for the ship because she was sunk before being adjudged a legal prize by the court of claims—damages on the ground of indignity, as indicated by Premier Balfour's speech—there is a strong belief here that both parties will agree to send the matter in controversy to The Hague tribunal.

The foreign office has received a communication from the British ambassador, Sir Charles Hardinge, enclosing a copy of the evidence given before the British consul at Chefoo by the captain of the British steamer Hipsang, belonging to

WEST ABANDONED BY DEMOCRATS

National Campaign Headquarters Will Not Be Established at Chicago.

NOTIFY PARKER TOMORROW

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The national Democratic executive committee was in session five hours today and upon adjournment gave out the following statement:

"At the meeting of the committee all the members were present except Col. James M. Guffey of Pennsylvania, who is ill; also Chairman Taggart, Vice-Chairman Nicoll, Treasurer Peabody and Secretary Woodson. The location of national headquarters was fixed at No. 1 West Thirty-fourth street, consisting of the second and third floors and basement of the Century building. It was determined not to open branch headquarters in the west or to name additional committees for the present. Plans of organization were taken up and thoroughly mapped out."

This epitome of five hours' work, authorized by Chairman Sheehan, does not go into any details of the meeting, and members of the committee were also very reticent, although the statement was made that the session was harmonious and the conclusions were reached without discord. Chairman Taggart denied that the decision not to establish branch headquarters in the west at present was due to any differences about location, or because he had suggested Indianapolis in preference to Chicago.

Every member of the committee said that the existing differences between Patrick H. McCarren and Charles Murphy in Greater New York, were not taken up. There was a general interchange of views concerning conditions in states which the Democrats deem essential to Democratic success. The general conditions in New York, New Jersey, West Virginia and Indiana were discussed, and men from these states gave the committee such information as they had.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Democratic leaders here made a final stand today in defense of their contention in favor of the location of headquarters in Chicago. Former Mayor John P. Hopkins and National Committeeman Roger C. Sullivan, communicated with the eastern managers in conference at the Hoffman house in New York, after submitting a final argument.

It was represented that even if the national committee should decided that Illinois is not worth fighting for in the presidential contest, the Indiana campaign can be handled more effectively from Chicago than Indianapolis. When they reached the spot all cries for help had ceased.

Relief trains with physicians, wreck and pile-driving outfits and scores of workmen were hurried from the city. The first train from the wreck came in shortly after midnight with J. M. Killin of Pueblo, H. S. Gilbert, Tony Fisher and Fireman Mayfield. These were four men in the midst of the wreck who escaped.

The first of the corpses recovered were those of Miss Irene Wright and little Dorothy Johnson, sister-in-law and daughter respectively of Harry Johnson, of Pueblo. An unknown woman lay beside them. Engineer Hindman was found with his watch still running, a few feet further down the stream.

A second party further down the river found several persons entangled in a mass of debris, though to have been part of the baggage car, which was literally torn to pieces. In a short time a large number of bodies were dug out of the sand here. One woman was completely buried, save one foot, which stuck above the water. Some bodies were found lodged in the shrubbery along the banks, others in the wreckage in midstream, and many half buried with only an arm or a bit of clothing to reveal their whereabouts.

When brought ashore the bodies were placed on the ground and covered. A baggage car was kept running between the city and the wreck, bringing in those who were found. A number of wagons finally were pressed into service to haul the bodies to the tracks, leaving the searchers free to continue the hunt for others.

Fireman's Lucky Escape.

Fireman Mayfield, upon his arrival here, was the first person to give any details of the awful wreck. He was dazed by the awful ordeal he passed through, yet each incident is fixed so firmly in his mind that he will remember it until his dying day.

"It had been raining all evening," he said, "and we had a hard time to keep steam up in order to run on schedule time. A little while before we reached the bridge that crosses Dry creek, I began firing up. Just as I was putting in the second shovelful of coal the engine gave a sudden lurch upward. I lost my balance and was thrown from the train on to the bank of the creek. I must have struck partly on my head, as I was dazed and did not know what happened for several minutes. When I came to I saw the Pullman cars standing near me, but could not see the engine or the rest of the train. I went up and down the stream looking for my engineer, Charles Hindman.

"I didn't notice whether water was running over the trestle as we approached the bridge, but when I was through the water was much higher than the tracks.

"We did not expect anything at all. We were going along at a good speed all the time, and never dreamed that anything was wrong. We thought that if there was any kind of a flood near Eden the operator there would know, and that he would flag us. We passed there but saw no signals of any kind. It is only a mile from Eden to the bridge that went down."

R. Brunazzi, superintendent of the dining car service of the Denver & Rio Grande, one of the survivors, had a narrow escape.

"I was sitting in the front end of the forward sleeper Wyuta," he said, "near the door. The train had slowed up on account of the bad condition of the tracks and I think we were going about 15 miles an hour, when all at once I felt a sudden jolt, then a terrific crash, and our car turned almost on its front end. I rushed to the platform and saw before me nothing but a black, raging torrent, with three coaches whirling down the stream. The water was rushing against the banks with terrible velocity, and no human being, it seemed to me, could ever withstand that awful current.

Victims Were Almost Silent.

"Strangely enough there was hardly any screaming. I listened to hear cries, but it was all over in a minute, and the coaches whirled away down the stream with their loads of human beings. Apparently the people were swallowed up in the flood, the water surging into the coaches and drowning them instantly. There was not a sound. I heard no calls for help."

Peculiar pathos attaches to the death of Miss Stella McDonald of Pueblo and Dr. James R. McGregor of Ballard, Wash., who were drowned together. Their engagement was announced last week and the wedding was planned for the near future. Miss McDonald had been connected with the Pueblo schools for several years.

The most remarkable escape from death that the railroad officials have yet learned in connection with the wreck was that of J. M. Killin, a well known hardware merchant, who was one of the occupants of the chair car. Mr. Killin was severely cut about the head, hands and arms, but no bones were broken, and he will be entirely recovered within a few days if no serious complications ensue. His escape was due entirely, he believes, to his ability as a swimmer, his great strength and his presence of mind, which led him to hold his breath while he was submerged with the other passengers in water.

"When the first crash came we were riding along as smoothly as one could go," said Mr. Killin, "it was just as though the train had struck against a stone wall. The lights went out, the fixtures and everything fell down, all the passengers were thrown forward and there were the most awful cries for help and the grinding of timbers. I saw the man just to me was down and I heard him up, but just then another crash came and the train seemed to sink about five feet.

"I lost sight of everybody and could not think of anything but to save myself. I remember well the sensations that I had at that time. I knew I was in terrible danger, and my first thought was that I must get out of the car. At the second crash I was about up to my waist in water. All the time the grinding and crushing of timbers was going on. In another crash I was thrown about a third of the length of the car, right up against the front door. I grabbed the top of the door and the car went over in the water three times.

Held His Breath.

"My first instinct when the water went up over my head was to hold my breath. I think I was under water for a full minute. The car naturally righted and when it came up the water was just about to my lips. I could breathe all right and saw that the transom was just above me. With my right hand I smashed out the glass, hoping I could get out in that way.

"At that moment another crash came and I was struck in the forehead by some floating object and dazed, but managed to keep my head above the water, and after a terrific struggle was just above me.

"The only man I could see in the coach as I left it was F. H. Messinger, a banker from Central City. He sat just behind me and at once came to the end of the car. It seemed that he would be saved, but he went down and was lost.

"As I approached an island I heard a faint cry of a woman for help. I answered, shouting: 'I am coming,' but that moment I heard a gurgling sound as if the poor unfortunate was lost, and I heard the cries no more."

Mr. Killin was taken to a hospital at Pueblo.

PLAINFIELD, IND., Aug. 8.—Running at the rate of 60 miles an hour, Vandalia train No. 20, a through train from St. Louis with 300 passengers aboard, struck a broken rail near the depot here today. Four cars were turned over and destroyed by fire, caused by the explosion of a gas storage tank. None of the passengers were killed, and only one, Mrs. E. X. Wigderson, of Antigo, Wis., was seriously injured. Nearly all of the injuries were caused by broken glass.

The fire which destroyed the coaches also consumed a grain elevator and a string of freight cars. For a time a cabinet factory and several business houses were threatened, but the prompt arrival of fire apparatus from Indianapolis aided in getting the fire under control.

Nearly all of the passengers were taken to Indianapolis on the Interurban lines.

PORTER SAVED HIS CAR.

Vance Proved a Hero and Rescued Many from Death.

EDEN, COL., Aug. 8.—W. Vance, porter on the forward sleeping car Wyuta, was one of the heroes of the disaster. To his bravery the persons on that car owe their safety.

Vance was standing near the front end of the car when the crash came. With rare presence of mind he rushed to the handbrake on the front of the car and began tightening the brakes on the wheels. His car was slipping forward from the momentum and from the terrible drag on the trucks by the forward cars falling into the stream.

Vance held to the brake like grim death. His hands clenched the wheel until his fingers almost bled, but he held on until his right leg stopped the car. The forward cars broke from the sleeper and fell into the water, while the car which Vance had held with the brake stopped on one-third of its way on the brink of the chasm overhanging the gulch below. The forward trucks had left the track and gone down, but the remainder of the coach remained on the tracks and the lives of the passengers were saved.

It required two engines and nearly a half hours' work to pull this sleeper back from the brink of the chasm.

TRAIN WRECKERS FOILED.

Shoot Union Pacific Station Agent Who Discovered Them at Work.

CHEYENNE, WYO., Aug. 8.—An attempt was made to wreck the Atlantic express on the Union Pacific railroad near Ahsay station, between Rock Springs and Green river today.

John Utley, station agent at Ahsay, noticing that the lights of the switch were turned in the wrong way, started to fix them, when he was fired at from the darkness and wounded in the arm. He fell to the ground and the would-be train wreckers fled.

Utley managed to get to the station and called up Wilkins, the next station west. The Atlantic express was flagged there and the wreck and probable holdup was thus prevented.

TRAIN PLUNGES INTO RIVER CREW OF EIGHT DROWNED

HENDERSON, KY., Aug. 8—A fast freight on the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railroad went through an open bridge at Spottsville, Ky., tonight and the crew of eight were drowned. The bridge is swung on a pivot in the center and had been turned to admit of the passage of a steamer.

PUT HIM IN JAIL.

American Citizen of Philadelphia Gets Cordial Reception on Return to His Native Land.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—(Special.)—George Malkonia, a born Armenian but naturalized American, who is a Philadelphia business man, visited his birthplace at Harpoot, Turkish Armenia. He had his naturalization papers in his pocket, an American passport and $1,000, which he had earned and saved here.

At Samsoun, on the Turkish coast, the authorities threw him into jail. When Malkonia got out of jail, after 21 days of negotiation, Turkey was over $800 ahead. He struggled on to Harpoot, where he found his people. When he got back to Philadelphia he had $3, which the Turks had overlooked.

Malkonia says he complained to the consulate at Samsoun, and to that at Harpoot. The Samsoun consul was away, but his deputy told him he could not do anything for him. The Harpoot consul is a Greek and he didn't know what Malkonia's naturalization papers meant. He didn't think he had anything to do with the matter.

HE'S JUST A BAD BOY.

That Is What Supt. McQuaide Thinks of Earl N. Young.

Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide does not believe that the smoking of cigarettes caused Earl N. Young, the young man, who, it is alleged, tried to get Aaron Goldstein to cash a falsely certified check, to take the downward path. "I think he and Chester Hamilton are both bad boys," said McQuaide, told that the father of Young, in an interview, said his son was mentally irresponsible from the smoking of cigarettes.

McQuaide has received no word from the father, A. C. Young, a New York insurance adjuster, and does not think he will come to Pittsburgh. A Cincinnati officer is expected here today to take Young back to Cincinnati, where he is wanted on the charge of obtaining money by false pretense. Young and Hamilton were yesterday charged by Detective James W. Eagan with being fugitives from justice.

Engineer's Last Words.

On the lookout for danger, warned by the squally clouds and heavy rains to the north, Engineer Charles Hindman was running cautiously, about 15 miles an hour, as he approached the arroyo, which was spanned by a bridge 90 feet in length. The condition of the bridge was not known until the locomotive, one of the monster passenger type, had nearly crossed. Fireman Frank Mayfield, with a torch that the engineer and the fireman had burning to ascertain the condition of the track, was in the gangway. When Engineer Hindman felt the tremor in the great machine and caught a glimmer on the water he shouted his last words:

"Put out that torch," evidently thinking that in the accident he felt certain was coming, the flames would serve to spread fire.

But before Mayfield could obey, while the words were still on the lips of the doomed man, and his hand seeking the mechanism controlling the air, the bridge gave way as though it had been a stack of kindling wood and the locomotive dropped with the hissing of steam 30 feet to the bottom of the arroyo, crosswise to the track.

The baggage car, smoking car and chair car followed the locomotive into the stream and were swept away. All the occupants of these cars except three men perished, and had not the roof of the chair car burst asunder none would have escaped. The fireman, as the locomotive went over, was thrown out, and managing to grasp a piece of wreckage from the bridge, floated with that to a curve made by the caving bank, and crept out of the water. He ran toward Eden, meeting on the way operator F. M. Jones and his wife, who already had started up the track.

"Notify Pueblo," came the voice of the running man, "the train's gone down and everybody is killed."

Dawn Reveals the Horror.

Even as he spoke, relates the operator, there were cries coming from the distance. The two men ran to where the bridge had been, to search, but in vain. Minutes ran into hours, dawn came, when they reached the spot all cries for help had ceased.

Relief trains with physicians, wreck and pile-driving outfits and scores of workmen were hurried from the city. The first train from the wreck came in shortly after midnight with J. M. Killin of Pueblo, H. S. Gilbert, Tony Fisher and Fireman Mayfield. These were four men in the midst of the wreck who escaped.

BANK PAID ALL THAT WAS WANTED

East Pittsburgh Savings and Trust Company Demonstrates Its Strength.

EVEN KEPT OPEN LONGER

A "run" which began when the bank opened in the morning, and continued all day, was successfully met by the East Pittsburgh Savings and Trust Company at East Pittsburgh yesterday. The bank remained open until 3:30 p. m., half an hour later than usual in order to give all comers a chance, and by that time there was a considerable number who wished to turn their money back.

The East Pittsburgh Savings and Trust Company is recognized as a Westinghouse bank. Its president is John R. McGinley, the well known Pittsburgh capitalist, and P. W. Morgan is vice president and cashier. The idea that the bank was in trouble is said to have been started by the filing of a petition in bankruptcy by an East Pittsburgh saloon proprietor.

When the bank opened it was noticed that there were more withdrawals than usual and the number continued increasing. It was then realized that the bank had a "run" on its hands and preparations were made to meet it. One of the Braddock banks sent $21,000, it is said, while another larger sum was taken from Pittsburgh.

When lunch time came at the Westinghouse works many of the employes hearing of what had happened lined up for their share of the deposits and they also were paid promptly. The majority of the withdrawals were called for by Italians, Hungarians and the more ignorant among whom the rumors of failure spread quickly and scared greatly.

It was stated at East Pittsburgh last evening that there had been no doubt among the better informed population as to the institution's ability to meet all demands and for that reason the scare did not extend to them. The subject became a joke before the day was over.

FIRE CHIEF AVERTS PANIC IN THEATER

BUFFALO, Aug. 8.—Fire in the five-story building at Nos. 251-257 Main street this afternoon caused a loss estimated tonight at $400,000, and for a time threatened the Academy of Music next door, where a play was being produced.

Assistant Fire Chief Edward Murphy went to the stage, informed the audience that a building nearby was ablaze, but assured them that there was no danger. He then asked the people to leave the theater. Exits were thrown open and the crowd filed out without mishap.

ROBBERS HAVE NO FEAR OF POLICE

Score of Houses in Hill District Entered and Booty Secured.

RESIDENTS TERROR-STRICKEN

Residents of the hill district are in a state of terror caused by the operations of robbers who do their work without apparent regard to the police. Within a week there have been at least a score of robberies committed in the two blocks bounded by Webster avenue, Davis street, Erin street and Center avenue. The police claim that the robbers are negroes and advance the theory that they are new in the city, but the character and number of houses visited indicates that they are well acquainted with the neighborhood.

Early yesterday morning three houses in Center avenue were entered by thieves. They gained entrance to the residence of Archibald Mackrell, 2055 Center avenue, by prying open a window, and got a pocketbook. In the house of Dr. Edward D. Weiss, 2043 Center avenue, they secured $43 from the doctor's clothes and $20 from Dr. W. H. Glynn, his roommate.

At the residence of John Gastarger, Center avenue and Erin street, one of the thieves was discovered by an occupant while the thief was in the hallway, walking in his stocking feet and carrying his shoes. He was allowed to go after stating that he was hunting some place to sleep and had entered an open window.

At the home of George Schornhorst, 2 Davis street, a small sum of money and some jewelry was secured and at the residence of Mrs. James D. Conwell, a few doors from the Schornhorst home, money, jewelry and several hundred dollars worth of clothing were taken. A 12-year-old son of Mrs. Conwell followed the robbers to Central park, in Bedford avenue, and when they saw the lad they fled.

The robbers were frightened away from the home of Frank Darrington, 2029 Wylie avenue, by a woman's screams. Miss Annie Darrington, a daughter, awakened to find a man searching her room and who fled when she aroused the household. A diamond ring, gold watch and diamond brooch were stolen at the residence of Marko Bilsky, 9 Trent street. M s. Bilsky surprised one of the robbers on the second floor, but he escaped. A gold watch and chain was secured but a large sum of money overlooked at the home of W. B. Gibson, 2014 Webster avenue. Ninety-five dollars were taken from a music cabinet at the home of Mrs. Flora Martin, music teacher, 1902 Wylie avenue. Other residences broken into are as follows: David Sweeney, Davis street; Daniel Dilley, 140 Bedford avenue; Henry Kelrshien, grocer, 2012 Webster avenue.

PUSHED FRIEND INTO THE RIVER

CONFLICTING STORIES TOLD

John Gworek, eight years old, was drowned yesterday and Stephen Vosky, aged nine, is locked in Central police station on his admission that he pushed his playmate into the river. He will be held to await the action of the coroner.

Shortly after 2 p. m. young Gworek went into his father's house, 2906 Mulberry alley, and got a towel, saying he was going in swimming at the foot of Thirtieth street. An hour later his seven-year-old brother ran into the house and said John was drowned. Vosky had pushed him into the water, the child said, and afterwards threw stones at him.

The parents and neighbors ran to the river and after an hour's work found John's body in the river under a sand barge. The corpse was taken home and it was found that the tongue had been bitten. It is supposed the boy, as he fell, struck his head against the rim of the barge on which he and Stephen and and four other boys were playing, and was stunned.

The father went to the police station and related to Inspector Robert S. Gray the story the younger boy had told him. The inspector found Vosky at his home, 2907 Mulberry alley. He admitted he had pushed Gworek from the barge, but said it was in play. He denied that he had thrown stones at his playmate. The other boys have not yet been found. They all ran away when Gworek sank.

While walking up the hillside, just above the railroad station at Port Perry early yesterday evening, Charles McCue saw the body of a man lying on the ground. He gave the alarm and the body was removed to an undertaker's place. It is supposed to be that of Henry Pusschel, a Swede, for that is the name and nationality given in the naturalization papers found on the body. There were no marks of violence on the corpse, but alongside lay a bottle labeled broma seltzer, containing some substance, not bromo seltzer, that has not yet been analyzed. The man was pretty well dressed, but had only three pennies in his pockets.

While in the yards of the Duquesne Steel works yesterday afternoon, bidding his fourth fellow man good-by, John Dundalis, 28 years old, was struck by an engine and instantly killed. He had planned to take a train for New York last evening to return to his former home in Slavonia.

Thomas Kovacevic was killed by a Wabash railroad train, which struck him while he was walking on the track at Sygnaz.

MIKADO'S WARSHIPS ARE NOW REPULSED

Russian resistance to these efforts is confined to the use of artillery, which ceaselessly harasses the diggers. The Japanese are said to have 60 guns in position on Wolfs hill and vicinity, and it is evidently their intention slowly and surely to tighten their noose around Port Arthur.

A refugee who witnessed the fighting at Wolfs hill, July 26 and July 27, declares that 4,000 Russian troops defended that position, all the approaches to which had been protected with terraces at angles of 45 degrees. In many instances the Russian soldiers dropped their rifles and rolled rocks down on the enemy with effect more fatal than their bullets.

The Russian mines were cleverly concealed in an open field. Their composition was as follows: At the bottom was a layer of high explosive composition, next a layer of rocks and the whole covered with sod. The explosion of these mines threw the rocks for a distance of one or two versts. It is alleged that with the exception of four men, who were captured, two squadrons of Japanese cavalry were wiped out by the explosion of such mines.

The witnesses confirm previous statements that the Japanese losses in this fighting were severe. The Japanese soldiers advanced to Wolfs hill over ground thickly strewn with their dead. They occupied the hill. By the third day the stench from the decomposing bodies, which were not interred for lack of time, became intense. Japanese prisoners are quoted as saying that one of the narrow streets of a Chinese village, which was made the target of Russian batteries, was packed with dead and wounded men.

The vehicles used by the Russians in removing their wounded included bicycles used in pairs, with a litter swung between them. A detachment of six cabs also was sent out on July 26, to bring in Russian wounded. On the 27th these cabs returned for more wounded to a place they had visited the day before. It was found, however, that this place was then occupied by the Japanese, who captured the cabs.

Lost Every Officer.

On July 27 two detachments of marines and sailors, numbering 200 men, lost every commissioned officer as a result of the first volley fired by the Japanese. The men of the detachment thereupon sent a delegation to Maj.-Gen. Kondratenko and requested that he send to them the officers under whom they had previously performed exceptionally brilliant services, and for which Gen. Stoessel had sent them special thanks.

By the night of July 27 the Russian soldiers had been fighting 48 hours with a minimum of rest, food and water. They were then relieved by reserves who arrived at the lines, led by bands playing the national anthem. At the conclusion of the anthem cheers were given along the entire Russian line for the emperor.

A proclamation issued by Gen. Stoessel, commander-in-chief at Port Arthur, thanking the soldiers and declaring that their work in defense of the fortress never would be forgotten, was read to the troops, who again cheered. At this time the men of the Japanese lines were so close that the Russians could hear their enemies talking.

Among the refugees who arrived here during the last 24 hours are certain officials of the Danish Asiatic Company for whose safety fears had been entertained.

GEN. KUROKI ATTACKS RETREATING RUSSIANS

Report Comes of Heavy Onslaught on Czar's Forces North of Hai-Cheng.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—The Tageblatt this morning prints the following dispatch:

"LIAO-YANG, Aug. 7.—The western Russian forces north of Hai-Cheng suffered a heavy attack today. Many wounded Russians are here.

"There is a rumor current that Gen. Kuroki is threatening Mukden from the northeast.

"Viceroy Alexieff and Gen. Kuropatkin were yesterday in Liao-Yang."

GEN. KUROKI'S HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD, via Fusan, Aug. 7.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The Russian forces in front of Gen. Kuroki's army are reported retreating northward. A part of it has escaped at An Ping, 12 miles from Liao-Yang. Guns were heard this morning on the Japanese right, meaning that possibly the Japanese are following the Russian retirement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—(5:35 p. m.)—An important conference on the military situation was held at the Peterhof palace today. The ministers of war and marine, the Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, Gen. Gotte, one of Gen. Kuropatkin's aids-de-camp, who had just arrived from the front with personal dispatches for the emperor, and others, were present.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—(Copyright Cable.)—The utter lack of news further adds to the prevailing deep anxiety concerning the safety of Gen. Kuropatkin's army.

The city is full of sinister rumors. It is stated that Gen. Kuropatkin has decided to face the necessity of fighting, which is here looked upon as a great misfortune that may end in disaster.

According to a special dispatch from Vladivostok to the Novoe Vremya, the captain of the Knight Commander, after denying on oath that he was carrying contraband of war, completely broke down when he found that the Russians were in possession of his letter copying book, which contained ample evidence, convicting him.

The Russian admiralty has adopted the American Lidgerwood-Spencer cable system of coaling at sea, and will start practicing at once with the same upon the second Pacific squadron, 10 ships, which are practically ready to sail.

Dividend on Canadian Pacific Declared.

MONTREAL, QUE., Aug. 8.—At the annual meeting of the directors of the Canadian Pacific railway today a dividend of 2 per cent on the preferred stock for the half year ending June 30 was declared.

TURKEY HAS ULTIMATUM FROM SECRETARY HAY

impress upon the porte the impatience of the United States at the delay in reply to the request made by Minister Leishman in a personal interview with the sultan, it is believed the message sent by Chekib Bey today will have more effect. The strongest part of the American policy will probably be played in an ultimatum to be delivered just about the time the fleet reaches Smyrna.

The question asked on every hand is, "Will the American warships bombard some Turkish city or seize a port; will there be fighting?" The Gazette correspondent today propounded this question to several men high in the councils of the administration. The answer was that to tell what the government was planning would be to rob the act of its effect.

It is betraying no confidence to say that it is hoped there will be no necessity for greater force than the mere display of the white sides and black guns of the cruisers at Smyrna. This demonstration is designed to frighten the porte into what the state department believes is only proper international civility.

The United States since the Spanish-American war has been involved in no incident requiring such warlike measures as are now being taken. When two powers begin to steam fleets toward each other, war lurks around the corner. But before any shells are tossed into any Turkish city the natural step would be a severance of diplomatic relations by withdrawal of the American minister at Constantinople and the Turkish minister at Washington. The latter has been duly appointed, but never presented his credentials to the president. They were addressed to President McKinley, but before he had a chance to present them Mr. McKinley was killed. The porte has never sent any others. He seemed to think today that because the president of the United States was unable to declare war without the consent of congress, that he could not make a naval demonstration without similar authority.

No additional word has come from Minister Leishman today. What is the effect of the American anger upon the Turkish government is only conjectured.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 8.—(Special Cable.)—Minister Leishman, the American representative of the United States in Turkey, received word from the Yildiz Kiosk today that the demands of the United States that the school, trading and missionary privileges of that country be put on a basis equal to those accorded to other countries, will shortly be granted. This is the first result of the action of the United States government in sending Admiral Jewell's fleet to Smyrna to enforce, if necessary, the demands of the government of the United States.

EXPLAINS ASPHALT SEIZURE.

The Venezuelan Government Claims American Company Failed to Fulfill Obligations.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The official action and attitude of the Venezuelan government in the asphalt controversy in which American interests are endangered, are set out very briefly in the following cablegram received here by Senor Pulido, the Venezuelan charge d'affairs, from the minister of foreign affairs at Caracas:

The government of Venezuela requested competent court to declare forfeited Hamilton's concession because of non-fulfillment of obligations.

The property was seized as a precautionary measure in conformity with law.

(Signed) SANABRIA.

Hamilton's concession, as the grant originally made by the Venezuelan government, was known, is now the property of the New York and Bermudez Company which, according to recent information received at the state department, by decree of the Venezuelan courts has been put into the hands of a receiver. It appears the company was required to construct certain public works in connection with the concession and the failure to meet its alleged obligations in these respects was, according to Mr. Pulido's understanding, the reason for the course taken by the Venezuelan government.

SHARPSBURG TO ENFORCE BLUE LAWS FOR SUNDAY

For the first time in the history of the borough of Sharpsburg, Sharpsburg will vigorously enforce the blue laws and wage war upon all Sunday venders and amusement proprietors. The sale of soda water, tobacco, candy, fruits, etc., will be prohibited and the police instructed to arrest all offenders. President M. F. Dethyer voiced the sentiment of the campaign at the regular monthly meeting of the borough council last night. He expressed his horror of the prevailing conditions in the borough and said that while he was not posing as a Christian reformer he thought the Sabbath breaking had been carried beyond enduranc.

PLAIN DISSENT FROM RUSSIA BY JOHN HAY

ancipatis uses are contraband of war is their destination for the military uses of a belligerent. Mr. Hall's words are notes to Wheaton's international law, says:

"The chief circumstances of inquiry would naturally be the port of destination, if that is a naval arsenal or a fortress to which vessels of war are usually ditted out, or in which a fleet is lying, or a garrison town, or a military depot, or a port to which evidently is fitting out, the presumption of military use would be raised, more or less strongly according to the circumstances.

In the war of 1859 and 1870 coal was declared not to be contraband. During the latter war Great Britain held that the character of coal depended upon its destination and refused to permit vessels to sail with it to the French fleet in the North sea. Where coal or other fuel is shipped to a port of a belligerent, with no presumption against its pacific use, to condemn it as absolutely contraband would seem to be an extreme measure.

Mr. Hall, international law, says: "During the West African conference in 1884, Russia took occasion to dissent vigorously from the inclusion of coal amongst articles contraband of war, and declared that she would categorically refuse her consent to any articles in any treaty convention, or instrument whatever which would imply its recognition as such."

We are also informed that it is intended to treat raw cotton as contraband of war. While it is true that raw cotton could be made up into clothing for the military uses of a belligerent, a military use for the supply of an army or navy, cotton might possibly be made of food stuffs or every description, which might be shipped from neutral ports to the non-blockaded ports of a belligerent. The principle under consideration might, therefore, be extended so as to apply to every article of human use, which might be declared contraband of war simply because it might ultimately become in any degree useful to a belligerent for military purposes.

Coal and other fuel and cotton are employed for a great many innocent purposes. Many nations are dependent on them for the conduct of inoffensive industries, and no sufficient presumption of an intended warlike use seems to be afforded by the mere fact of their destination to a belligerent port. The recognition, in principle, of the treatment of coal and other fuel and raw cotton as absolutely contraband of war might ultimately lead

AIRSHIP ALMOST READY TO FLY

Maj. Van Voorhis Has the Wings About Finished for a Trial Spin in the Air.

BOYS ARE STEALING TOOLS

Maj. Harvey B. Van Voorhis was busy yesterday afternoon putting the finishing touches to the wings of the airship which is going to carry him from Pittsburgh to the St. Louis world's fair. The skeleton, which will be suspended beneath the balloon and which will carry the motor and the navigator, is almost ready and would have been complete several days ago except for the fact that several mischievous boys have carried away essential parts as souvenirs. The boys were forbidden the ground at Negley and Center avenues yesterday, but they hung on the fence and watched the inventor and his colored helper fixing up the last few splices before the ship would be ready for action.

This airship which is going, if possible, to try for the premium at the world's fair contests, is open to every eye. It is being constructed in an open lot on the northwest corner of Negley and Center avenues. It is a light structure of bass wood and lathing, with bamboo arms which sprout in front, in the center and from the ends. There are six bamboos from each rib and these have furled to them little linen sails that are so contrived that they will catch the wind on their backward sweep and feather like an oar on the forward, so that they catch little or no wind. Two of these sails are on the front end of the carriage and two are in the center. All were in place before the inventor quit work last night, and there only remained to be put in place the "fish tails" or steering gear. The bamboos were there ready for the canvas, and all that was required was that they be attached to the gearing which runs all the wings and tails.

hand ratchet to see that it works smoothly. The forward and center wings are perpendicular and "feather" exactly like an oar as they come back. The rear wings are horizontal, like the tail of a fish, and are also in sections. All are controlled by one mechanism.

At present the moving power consists of two handles from a clothes wringer, which are attached to a gear wheel taken from a bicycle, and a sprocket chain runs down to the smaller axle, on which are the handles. By turning these the wings flap back and forth and feather as beautifully as any oarsman who ever rowed on the Allegheny. The framework which supports these wings is 32 feet long and about 6 feet high, an interlacing of bass-wood struts which hold the whole thing in shape. The inventor has not yet calculated the weight of this body, but had to do away with the two "insect wings" he had intended putting on top of the frame. They would increase the weight too much. Yesterday afternoon he was busy attaching the last of the yokes which connect the bamboo wings with the wooden arms that work from the wringer handles.

"The hardest work is in getting pieces to fit this machine," said the inventor, as he sat in a carpet chair and drilled holes in pieces of iron that were later to hold bolts. "I have to make every piece myself," and looking at the ship this was very evident. Old rubber shoe heels were being utilized as the bed for hinges, and were rather cleverly used at that. "The boys come here and this is the third pair of pliers I have had in a week. Boys will be boys, and even when I was in mischief," said the graybearded inventor, "I never liked to be insulted by being ordered away, but today I had to forbid them the grounds. They take everything their fancy covets."

Meanwhile the boys were leaning on the whitewashed fence in Negley avenue watching the inventor and his colored helper at work. The ship looks like a flying machine, and its weight was demonstrated by the fact that two men who never did hard work in their lives were able to carry the framework and the wings attached all over the lot. But into this framework there is to be a 10-horse power engine, whether gasoline or steam, the inventor has not yet decided, and the weight of a man to run it.

In a shed in the corner of the lot is the balloon which will be attached above the framework. When inflated with hot air it will be cigar shaped, 150 feet long and 40 feet in diameter. It will carry about 800 pounds. In the same shed is a working model of the framework, with the "insect wings" on top, and it certainly will buzz when it is screwed up to work. But the boys have also played with it, and at present it is a little out of order.

"I have had many inventions patented in my time," said the major, "and always there was some person who found fault with a part of it, but with regard to this flying machine everybody who has seen the working model has had nothing but commendation. I don't know what the weight of the framework, engine and the engineer will be, but it ought not to be over 850 pounds. When I get the machinery working by hand-cranks and find that everything as I have planned it is shipshape, then I will think about the engine. I am sure it will fly because it is constructed on scientific principles. Anyone passing the corner of Center and Negley avenues cannot fail to see this immense wooden bird, which is lying in a vacant lot waiting for the finishing touches to spread its wings and fly into the blue empyrean. The major may have a trial venture late in the week.

GEORGE A. CHALFANT HURT.

Well-Known Etna Citizen While Walking in Sleep Fell from Hotel Window.

George A. Chalfant, former president of the Spang-Chalfant Company of Etna, who went to Detroit last week with a party of friends, met with a serious, and for a time it was feared, a fatal accident, last Saturday morning. He is at present confined to bed in the Harper hospital and is suffering from a broken arm and internal hurts.

The party of Pittsburghers, after reaching Detroit, took the trip to the St. Clair flats, and Friday night stopped off at the Star Island house. Mr. Chalfant was assigned a room on the second floor. It appears that he is given to walking in his sleep, and towards morning he rose from his bed, walked to the open window and deliberately stepped out, landing 26 feet or more below on the lawn. He struck on his right arm and side. The arm was fractured between the shoulder and the elbow. When picked up Mr. Chalfant was also suffering severely from internal hurts.

He was taken back to Detroit on the early boat and taken to Harper hospital, where he now is. Last night it was stated to The Gazette correspondent that he is doing well and will probably recover. Mr. Chalfant's family was informed last night that it would be possible for him to return home in about one week. Mr. Chalfant went to Michigan on a pleasure trip, and was accompanied by George L. McFarlane and State Senator John W. Crawford.

BIGELOW GAINS THREE MEMBERS

Won a Few Republicans, but Failed to Railroad Bond Ordinance Through.

ANOTHER SESSION THURSDAY

The administration failed yesterday in common council to get enough votes to suspend the rules to pass the $5,000,000 filtration bond ordinance finally, and President Ward called another meeting of that body for Thursday afternoon to put the measure through on second reading. A third meeting will probably be held Friday, and select council will likely hold a special session next Monday. Director Bigelow announced Saturday night that four Republicans, three of whom he named, would vote for the bond ordinance. With one exception he made good his claim yesterday.

The three Republicans who voted with the administration were J. A. Joyce of the First ward, George F. Cronmiller of the Thirty-sixth ward and Charles Gulland of the Thirty-seventh ward. Bigelow had said that one of the Republican members from the Fourteenth ward would vote with the administration, but when the first test vote was taken yesterday the member from the Fourteenth ward whom he counted upon was absent. He came in afterwards. The other Fourteenth ward members, Morin, Johns and Perley, were present and voted against the motion to suspend the rules.

Republicans Prevented Suspension.

The vote was 29 in favor of suspension and 13 against. Forty-four members answered the roll call. John A. Bergmann of the Twenty-ninth ward was absent from the council chamber for a few minutes while the vote was being taken, and John J. Hughes, Citizen, of the Fifth ward, refused to vote either way. Hughes appeared to have a grievance. At the close of the meeting he moved to adjourn for 30 days. With 44 members present it required 33 votes to suspend the rules, or four more than the administration could command.

The filtration bond ordinance was passed on first reading, the mere reading of the title of the bill being all that was necessary. Amendments are not permissable under the rules, except on second reading, and amendments will be presented on Thursday. The bond bill was reported affirmatively by the chairman of the finance committee, D. J. Bole, with a number of other measures. Three bills besides the bond ordinance were held up by the Republicans in defeating the motion to suspend the rules.

Four Bills Held Up.

The motion to suspend the rules was not made on the bond bill, but on an ordinance for the payment of bills for extra work in the parks. William Brand, the Republican floor leader, asked that the four bills be set aside and acted upon separately. The four bills held up were as follows: Authorizing the employment of additional men in the filtration bureau; authorizing the employment of an additional permit clerk in the bureau of building inspection; authorizing the payment of bills for extra work in the parks, and authorizing an issue of $5,000,000 bonds for filtration plant.

Bole made the motion to suspend the rules to put the park ordinance on second reading and third reading and final passage. The vote on this was as follows:

Ayes—Bole, Bonini, Bright, Cronmiller, Denzler, Frankel, Gulland, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Joyce, Maslowski, Mathews, Myers, McKelvey, McNally, O'Brien, Pfannkuch, Porter, Rapp, Roenigk, Scott, Sheinkan, Simon, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger, President Ward—29.

Noes—Bailey, Barton, Brand, Fullerton, Gibbon, Girdwood, Johns, Kohne, Martin, Milby, Morin, Perley, Semmelroch—12.

Absentees—Barr, Collins, Finerty, Kalchthaler, McKnight, Steel, Lewis—7.

Not voting—Bergmann and Hughes.

Big Increase of Pay-Roll.

When this motion to suspend the rules failed, the Citizens did not attempt to offer a similar motion on the bond ordinance. The ordinance providing for the employment of additional men in the water bureau to install water meters, adding $30,000 monthly to the pay roll, was passed finally against the votes of the Republican members. The Republicans prevented the passage of a bill to pay $125 for a comptometer, or adding machine, for the filtration bureau, their objection being that the machine had been purchased without any contract, and that there was some doubt about its necessity at this time.

The bill for the payment of record books for the same bureau was also held up because the bureau had refused to use cheaper books, furnished by the controller's office, and had ordered books in Russian leather binding, after the controller had refused to order them and had three times refused to pay the bill for them. This bill amounted to $24 50. A number of bills for the payment of extra work on the streets were passed finally without objection.

New bills were introduced for the location and establishing the grade of Star alley; establishing the grade of Lebanon street; vacating South Thirty-second street north of McClurg street; opening Fisk street; grading, paving and curbing Lyric street and Kinkston alley, and for a sewer on Vera street.

BUNCH TOGETHER

Coffee Has a Curious Way of Finally Attacking Some Organ.

Ails that come from coffee are cumulative, that is, unless the coffee is taken away new troubles are continually appearing and the old ones get worse.

"To begin with," says a Kansan, "I was a slave to coffee, just as thousands of others today, thought I could not live without drinking strong coffee every morning for breakfast, and I had sick headaches that kept me in bed several days every month. Could hardly keep my food on my stomach, but would vomit as long as I could throw anything up and when I could get hot coffee to stay on my stomach I thought I was better.

"Well, two years ago this spring I was that sick with rheumatism I could not use my right arm to do anything, had heart trouble, was nervous. My nerves were all unstrung and my fingernails and lips were blue as if I had a chill all the time and my face and hands yellow as a pumpkin. My doctor said it was heart disease and rheumatism and my neighbors said I had Bright's disease and was going to die.

"Well, I did not know what on earth was the matter and every morning would drag myself out of bed and go to breakfast, not to eat anything, but to force down some more coffee. Then in a little while I would be so nervous, my heart would beat like everything.

"Finally, one morning, I told my husband I believed coffee was the cause of this trouble and that I thought I would try Postum which I had seen advertised. He said 'All right,' so we got Postum and although I did not like it at first I got right down to business and made it according to directions, then it was fine and the whole family got to using it and I tell you it has worked wonders for me. Thanks to Postum in place of the poison, coffee, I now enjoy good health, have not been in bed with sick headache for two years although I had it for 30 years before. I began Postum and my nerves are now strong and I have no trouble from my heart or from the rheumatism.

"I consider Postum a necessary article of food on my table. My friends who come here and taste my Postum say it is delicious." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

AN ORDINANCE—Establishing a grade on Forbes street, Thirteenth ward (center line), from Hamilton street to the center of a thirty-foot street, unnamed.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the grade on Forbes street, Thirteenth ward (center line), from Hamilton street to the center of a thirty-foot street, unnamed, be and the same is hereby established as follows:

Beginning at a point where the northwest curb line of Hamilton street intersects the center line of Forbes street, at an elevation of two hundred and three and twelve one-hundredths (203.12) feet above city datum; thence northwestwardly at a rate of one (1) foot per hundred for a distance of two hundred and thirteen (213) feet to the intersection of the center line of Forbes street with the center line of a thirty-foot street, at an elevation of two hundred and five and twenty-five one-hundredths (205.25) feet above city datum.

Sec. 2. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing be and the same is hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into a law in councils this 29th day of July, A. D. 1904.

Today We Begin Clearing Out All of Our Boys' Clothing.

There will be no reservations. Last week we made a sweeping clearance of men's summer clothing. This week we will take equally as drastic measures in getting rid of all sorts of summer toggery for boys.

As to the wash suits, plenty of time to wear them yet this year and there's another summer coming. The styles are good, the prices down, so it's the best kind of economy to buy now for future use.

As to the cloth suits, there are all weights among them, some just right for present wear, others of the proper fabrics for the coolest Fall weather, and still others quite heavy enough for really cold weather. It's just a matter of selection.

As to styles, there are Single-Breasted, Double-Breasted and Norfolk Suits. There are Sailor, Russian and Eton Sailor Suits. Then there are Reefers and Topcoats in different styles as well as a variety of Russian Overcoats.

Today pay $ 3.75 for any $ 5.00, $ 6.00 or $ 7.00 Suit or Topcoat.
Today pay $ 5.00 for any $ 7.50, $ 8.00 or $ 9.00 Suit or Topcoat.
Today pay $ 7.00 for any $10.00, $12.00 or $12.50 Suit or Topcoat.
Today pay $10.00 for any $13.00, $14.00 or $15.00 Suit or Topcoat.

Boys' Wash Suits.

Regular $1.50 and $1.75 Wash Suits will go for $1.00.
Regular $3.00 and $4.00 Wash Suits will go for $2.00.
Regular $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 Wash Suits will go for $3.50.

All the above refers to complete lines of summer goods. Broken lines, meaning lines in which sizes are depleted, have been marked still lower. For example:

Different grades of Boys' Double-Breasted and Norfolk Suits that were $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 will sell today for $2.75.

Different grades of Russian Wash Suits and fine Buster Brown Dress Suits for youngsters of 2½ to 6 years of age, suits that were priced originally at $4.50, $5.00 and $6.00, will sell today for $2.75.

A Lot of Sample Lace Curtains Below Usual.

They're somewhat soiled, but what of that?—launder them and they are new again. Inasmuch as they are sample curtains, there is but one pair of a kind, but if you have use for an odd pair of curtains here and there, the reduced prices are the greatest of inducements for a prompt investment.

Irish Point Lace Curtains.

1 pr. $8.00 from $16.00. 1 pr. $4.00 from $8.00.
1 pr. $7.50 from $15.00. 1 pr. $1.00 from $2.00.

Arabian Lace Curtains.

1 pr. $37.50 from $75.00 1 pr. $8.00 from $16.00.
1 pr. $25.00 from $50.00. 1 pr. $7.50 from $15.00.
1 pr. $15.00 from $35.00. 1 pr. $7.00 from $14.00.
1 pr. $12.00 from $32.00. 1 pr. $4.00 from $ 8.00.
1 pr. $2.50 from $5.00.

French Arabian Bonne Femme Curtains.

1 pr. $15.00 from $50.00. 1 pr. $10.00 from $24.00.
1 pr. $15.00 from $45.00. 1 pr. $ 7.00 from $21.50.
1 pr. $20.00 from $40.00. 1 pr. $ 5.00 from $14.00.
1 pr. $20.00 from $45.00. 1 pr. $ 6.00 from $13.00.
1 pr. $5.00 from $12.00.

French Arabian Lace Panels.

1 at $10.00 from $45.00. 1 at $7.00 from $20.00.
1 at $15.00 from $40.00. 1 at $6.00 from $13.00.
1 at $ 8.00 from $20.00. 1 at $5.00 from $10.00.
1 at $ 8.00 from $25.00. 1 at $4.00 from $ 8.50.
1 at $3.00 from $7.50.

19 Styles Nottinghams $1.00 a pair.

Regularly these Nottingham Curtains are of a class that sell for $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 a pair—not a thing the matter with them—but as they represent the end of their respective lines we say take any of them at the dollar price.

Siamese Nottingham Curtains.

These are made with a throw-over lambrequin and are used one set to the window. We have 100 pairs which we will close out at 50c a set.

Early Autumn Dress Woolens.

This is the right time to take up the question of the new Fall dress when the dressmakers are not rushed, or, if you do your own sewing, when you can take your time and do the work justice. The new woolen fabrics are as smart as can be, and there is so much variety as to weave and color effects as to surprise the most inveterate shopper. Below a few of the new numbers:

New light weight mannish Rainproof Cloths, 50 to 56 inches wide, in brown, navy, tan, olive and oxford, $1.20, $1.50, $1.75 and up to $3.50 a yard.

New Tan Covert Cloths, correct for the Fall Topcoat and equally adaptable for jacket suits, 56 inches wide, $1.50, $2.00 and up to $3.00 a yard.

New Autumn Weight Panama Suitings—navy, royal blue, brown and cream, 46 to 56 inches wide, $1.00 and $1.25 a yard. This fabric promises to lead for Autumn wear.

New Tartan Plaids and Fancy Checked Mohairs. Particularly suited for costumes, shirtwaist suits and children's school dresses, 36 to 44 inches wide. 50c and 65c a yard.

New Mohair in royal blue, in new shades of brown, in navy and cream, 44 to 54 inches wide, 50c and up to $1.50 a yard.

A Word on the Subject of Hosiery.

New arrivals in German Lisle and Gauze and the heavier weight lisle. Pretty patterns in lace ankles and plain effects. We're not referring to our superfine hosiery now, remember, but to our special 50c line, which embraces more pretty things in the way of women's stockings than we ever had before at the price.

Reduced Prices for These:

Women's plain black German lisle hose with double feet, 50c grade at 35c pair, or 3 pairs for $1.00.
Plain Tan Lisles, also lace ankles and all-over patterns, 50c grades for 35c a pair, or 3 pairs for $1.00.
French Silk Hose, black with black clocks on ankle, $3.50 grade for $2.00 a pair.
Misses' 50c tan lace hose, 35c a pair, or 3 pairs for $1.00.
Children's 35c grade of tan ribbed hose, 25c a pair.

Tuesday, August 9, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

That the anarchist attacks not tyrants alone, but every representative of established order of government, is shown by the attempt made to dynamite the train of the young king of Spain. King Alfonso is but a boy, and has not had the opportunity to show whether his rule will be wise and beneficent or tyrannical and despotic. So far he has accepted the counsel of able men and the nation has been more prosperous than in years. But the dynamiter aims at all government. All restraint is irksome to him, and the boy king is as good a target for his enmity as are the rulers who notoriously disregard the needs of the people. The anarchist has only one aim, to kill; he has no remedy for the faults of government. And every move made by him adds to the evils he thinks assassination will eradicate.

An additional complication has been brought into the stock yards strike by the decision of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in favor of a general sympathetic strike. This was done under circumstances which give special emphasis to the action, for it was taken, not by the officers of the Brotherhood, but by the annual convention in session at Cincinnati. By the aid of the teamsters it is proposed to cut off supply of ice from all butchers who buy of the packers against whom the strike is being carried on. This will doubtless have some effect on the situation and may affect many local markets, as the sympathetic strike order is general. Meanwhile there is evidence that the packers are acquiring a sufficient force of hands to cope with their business. The live stock receipts of the day, amounting in all to 65,000 head, were nearly all bought by the packers.

The action of Mr. Schwab in returning to investors the amounts they lost in the shipbuilding company is too exceptional to cause expectation that his example will be emulated by promoters in general. Mr. Schwab undoubtedly expected great results from the company and had figured for himself and those who invested in the securities of the company a very large profit. The plan failed, but through no fault of his own. If he had invited these people directly to invest with him and they had lost their money as a result of his advice he would still be considered a rare financier when he returned the money lost. But in this case he made good the losses of people whom he has never seen, and who never had the benefit of his advice in business dealings. It is a wonderful example in business rectitude, but only men with great fortunes in hand can follow the practice without financial disaster.

The state department at Washington is making a very important move in its endeavor to make the diplomatic and consular service more co-operative in the matter of furnishing trade reports from foreign countries. The reports now being received from consuls are of the utmost importance to the business interests of the United States, in that they show the needs of the people of their districts and the exporter thus learns where to make his greatest efforts to gain trade. With the aid of the diplomatic service, these reports could undoubtedly be made more comprehensive. There can be no impropriety in the diplomatic service thus aiding the merchants and manufacturers of the United States. The service is designed to aid in the development of the home country as well as to handle great questions of foreign policy that may arise. And every information that tends to develop the business interests of the country should come under that head.

Meager but authentic advices in regard to the situation at Port Arthur have been brought by refugees who have arrived at Chefoo. They confirm the report that there has been desperate fighting in which the Japanese have lost heavily, but they keep forcing their way closer to the fortress. The fighting over the possession of Wolfs hill was protracted and severe, but the Japanese finally captured it and are now mounting 60 guns upon it. Every position carried by the Japanese increases their power of attack upon the remaining Russian defenses, and when the last of the outer ring of defenses passes into the hands of the Japanese the fortress itself will hardly be tenable against the tremendous artillery fire they can bring to bear. The desperate courage with which the combatants contest every step of the way has hardly a parallel in modern history. One has almost to go back to the siege of Jerusalem by Titus to find like contempt of death and stubborn endurance of continual slaughter.

The Bond Issue.

The ordinance authorizing the sale of the $5,000,000 of filtration bonds, approved at the recent election, was read by title in common council last evening. A motion to suspend the rules so as to put the ordinance through the additional readings required by law fell short of the necessary three-fourths majority and the council will have to meet again to take up the ordinance for a second reading, when it will be open to amendment. The ordinance provides for the sale of the bonds by the controller under the direction of the joint finance committee of councils. This will not preclude the serial issue of the bonds, and it is intimated that this course will be adopted. If such, however, is the intention it should be explicitly set forth in the ordinance. The city law department examined the law upon the subject, found that a serial issue would be permissible and drew an ordinance so providing. This ordinance is the one which councils should enact.

Although the action of the law department was taken without regard to the views and opinions of Controller Larkin and in ignorance of the course he might take, it has supplied him with an issue on which he truly represents public interests. It would be a monstrous proceeding to borrow $5,000,000 at 4 per cent to lend to pet banks at 2 per cent long in advance of any need for the money. Most of the arguments in favor of this course are so flimsy that they indirectly support the charge that the real purpose is to favor private interests at public expense. The only argument of any weight that can be advanced is that it is desirable to abridge Controller Larkin's opportunities of obstruction. A possible hold-up every time a sale of bonds might be needed for the work would be an unpleasant prospect, but the risk is undoubtedly a real one. The ground upon which Controller Larkin has held up the filtration bureau payroll is directly antagonistic to the position he has assumed with regard to the bond issue, and suggests that the only principle of consistency actuating his behavior is an effort to defeat filtration plans by chronic obstruction. But it would be attaching too much importance to Controller Larkin to avoid the right and proper course for fear of what he may do. If all legal requirements are complied with any outbreak of his obstructionist disposition that may occur would be only a temporary annoyance. He would have to submit to the law and perform the duties which the law imposes. When the ordinance comes up on second reading it should be amended so as to provide for a serial issue of bonds. That is the regular course of proceeding in New York and other cities where bonds are sold from time to time for public improvements.

Turkey Backing Down.

By this time the sultan is fully aware that the time for procrastination in the matter of granting equitable privileges to American schools and hospitals in Turkey equal to the privileges granted to those of other powers has passed. Secretary Hay very plainly informed Chekib Bay, the Turkish minister at Washington, that our European squadron had been ordered to Turkish waters, which the ambassador had previously doubted, and he has so informed his government. A telegram from Constantinople says Minister Leishman has been officially informed that the matter will be taken up on Wednesday and final reply given. However, the United States is accustomed to receive promises from the porte, and this message will not have the effect of disarranging any plans for a show of force now made. The sultan's officials are in the habit of making promises only to break them, and nothing less than positive action will now be accepted by the United States as closing the incident.

The navy department is going ahead with its plans for having a strong force at call if needed. The battleship squadron reported from Gibraltar yesterday and was ordered to coal, which will require several days, then proceed to Lisbon and await orders. This squadron will thus be within easy reach should it be needed to back up the European squadron, which is now en route to Smyrna. Too great a show of force is not desirable in Turkish waters, and the present disposition of the battleships under Admiral Barker will have an equally good effect. The main point is to convince the Turkish officials that they must act, and the administration is taking the only logical course.

The Cost of Living.

Col. Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, has made an interesting report on the advance in wages and the advance in the cost of living, which shows that while wages have increased during the past year by 16½ per cent, cost of living is only 15¼ per cent greater than a year ago. These figures are given after careful investigation of conditions in 33 states. Directly in line with this is the report of the state banking commissioner of New York, that the deposits in savings banks in that state have increased during the past year by $54,000,000, and the number of depositors by 78,848. Still another item of the week shows that the number of stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have increased during the past two years from 28,765 to 44,950, and there is a steady increase of about 200 monthly. All of these various items speak well for the prosperity of the country. The depositors in savings banks are in a large majority working people, and that they could increase their bank accounts in one state alone by $54,000,000 bodes well for the future as well as the present. In the matter of the increase in the number of stockholders in the Pennsylvania railroad, we are informed that there are many holders of very small blocks of stock, some as low as five shares and many of 50 shares. It is evident that small investors of savings are seeking a safe place to put their money, where the income is comfortable and certain. They therefore seek the stocks of conservatively managed companies. But the main point is that the wage and salary earners are not only making a comfortable living but are able to lay aside a portion of their income as a preparation for the coming of age.

The Wisconsin Tangle.

The factional contest in the Republican party of Wisconsin comes before the supreme court of that state today. The issue is of great importance to the Republican party in this campaign and incidentally it reveals the tendency of the official ballot system to produce unexpected complications. When the enactment of laws of this character was begun an argument pressed in their favor was that they would check faction chicanery and equalize the voting rights of citizens. These expectations have not been realized, but, on the contrary, factional spirit has obtained enlarged opportunities.

Under the old party ballot system a faction fight over local offices was not necessarily a disadvantage to national party interests. It used to be said in New York that with Tammany and anti-Tammany tickets in the field the result was a bigger vote for candidates on which both factions agreed than if there had been no faction contest to put spirit into the campaign and bring out a full vote. The split in the Republican party of Wisconsin is over state issues alone and both support the national ticket. The Spooner faction was recognized as regular by the Republican national convention, but the LaFollette faction claim that they represent Roosevelt principles in state affairs, and "Roosevelt-LaFollette" clubs are being formed all over the state. But the law prohibits the name of a candidate from appearing upon the official ballot more than once, so that the presidential electors which appear upon the state ticket of the one faction cannot appear upon the ticket of the other faction. The law was passed to cut out bogus tickets and mushroom parties gotten up to give candidates the advantage of a number of positions upon the official ballot but in the present emergency it will be apt to prevent a great many voters from voting as they desire.

The issue which now goes before the supreme court of the state is the question which of the Republican factions has the right to use the title Republican. The election law provides that:

In case of a division in any political party, and a claim by two or more factions thereof to the same party name, the officer with whom the certificates of nominations are required to be filed shall, in certifying such nomination and preparing ballots, give preference of name to the convention held pursuant to the call of the regularly constituted party authorities, and if the committee representing the other faction present no other party name such officer may designate the same in such manner as will best distinguish the nominations thereof.

The decision therefore will not reach the main difficulty, that of arranging an electoral ticket to receive the support of all Republicans irrespective of their local differences. Of the 13 electors who have been nominated, 11 have declared their intention of running upon the LaFollette ticket, in which case they will lose votes cast for the Cook ticket as a whole. Experience has shown that this loss will be considerable, as only a portion of the voters will take the trouble of voting for candidates individually so as to vote for state candidates upon one ticket and for presidential electors upon another ticket. Unless in some way or another the faction differences are adjusted Republican presidential chances in Wisconsin will be seriously diminished, although a great majority of the voters of the state might be confidently counted upon to support Roosevelt and Fairbanks if the law facilitated the true expression of their wishes.

Talked of in Gotham

By ALEXANDER DODDS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Republican national headquarters were officially opened by Chairman Cortelyou today. Treasurer Bliss, the four eastern members of the executive committee and a small army of clerks, secretaries and stenographers were on hand and the business of the campaign began to hum in the 15-room suite in the Metropolitan Life building. This afternoon Chairman Cortelyou and Treasurer Bliss had a conference at which the financial prospects were discussed. It is said that both recognize that neither contributions nor the necessity therefor will approach the amount expended in the last two presidential campaigns and William L. Ward, the executive chairman from New York, announced that the campaign this fall would be run almost entirely by the Republican organizations of the various states. This means the national committee will restrict itself more rigidly to mere supervisory work than ever before, a policy that is understood to have been dictated by President Roosevelt himself. The state leaders the country over are said to feel this plan is quite a compliment to their ability and as a result are more enthusiastic for the candidate than they have been since it became a certainty that Mr. Roosevelt would be nominated. On the letterheads the national headquarters is given as No. 1 Madison avenue, which is the west entrance to the building, but the suite occupied is located in the eastern part of the building. Mr. Cortelyou has a large square room on the corner of Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue, and Mr. Bliss' office faces Fourth avenue. The other committeemen and the clerical force have rooms west of the chairman's and facing Twenty-third street. They are all in a row, and when the doors are open Mr. Cortelyou can see in everyone of the 15 rooms from his desk.

Dissension in Taggart's Ranks.

Thomas Taggart has returned from the Monte Carlo of the west to face a troublous situation in the national Democratic campaign. He met the executive committee at the Hoffman house today to consider ways and means for the battle this fall, and what was discussed probably made the man from French Lick remove his rose colored glasses and view things as they really are. When he was a candidate for national chairman he was opposed by the eastern delegates. Now the west and south are furious over his practical surrender to the east in giving it all the important places upon the committee, while the section which championed his selection is given but a sub-committee. Those who know say the trouble will start over this point. Taggart relies wholly upon Belmont, Peabody, Sheehan and Nicoll to make connections with the financiers, as he says "that ain't in my line." However, he has promised to "make good to the boys of Indiana" and will pipe as much of the "grease" as he can from Wall street to the Hoosier state. Democrats says it's a useless fight, as Fairbanks has the state. That's more trouble for Taggart. A united Democracy is quite a euphonious phrase, but it is still as distant as the east is from the setting sun.

Parker Is Anxious to Be Wise.

The "Big Bill" Devery comet may not trail as long a tail across the political horizon as of yore, but in Eighth, Ninth and Tenth avenues Devery's word on politics and the "pump" are yet supreme. The "pump," which is but a fire plug against which "Big Bill" likes to lean and give his orders, is to this section what the "steps" at Liberty and Market streets was to Pittsburgh politics when the late Barney McKenna and "Boley" Mullen were numerals of importance. This afternoon Devery said that all could stack on one thing and that was when he went to see Alton B. Parker he would go right. In his opinion the farmer game with the pet lamb and the tame cow at Esopus is about as good a vote getter as Democracy could wish outside of having the party eliminate Charles Murphy from Tammany. He says the "great" Parker is anxious to get "wise" on Manhattan, hence he has sent for him. It will be a heart to heart talk, for "Big Bill" will have no pink tea language for his.

Years Make No Change in Murphy.

The name of Charles Murphy, leader of Tammany, has been scattered broadcast because of his temporary hide and seek game with the Democratic presidential nominee, but one of his boyhood companions, John McDonald, a newspaper man, says it is but the youngster streak still asserting itself. When a boy, Murphy as captain of a ball team would never abide by the umpire's decision if it was against him. "Pack bats," he would command and off they would go. Many boys could thrash him, but by some subtle means he would control them. "It's the same now," said Mr. McDonald at the Hoffman house this evening. "If Pat McCarren is made chairman of the state executive committee Murphy simply won't play, and he'll stick to it." With Tammany at loggerheads Democracy's chances around here are more sickly than ever.

One-Eyed Engineers Must Go.

An official order has been issued by the Erie railroad management requiring all one-eyed engineers to be taken off the train service and put to work where eyesight does not enter into the responsibilities of the position. Every railroad in the world has a rule prohibiting the hiring of a one-eyed man for train service, and now the Erie and other roads purpose to rigidly bar from such service all old employes thus afflicted. Railroad managers say that some of the best locomotive engineers in the service have only one eye, but the good of "the service" requires that all engineers must have two good eyes, and there must be no exceptions to the rule. In most cases the one-eyed engineers lost their other eye in the performance of duty, and consequently the railroad companies will not turn such men adrift. Some kind of employment will be found for them. The Pennsylvania railroad is the most exacting in its requirements relating to the men who man its locomotives.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

With a fair prospect of a smart business revival the matrimonial outlook ought to be encouraging.

Besides, leap year isn't over yet, and men are peculiarly susceptible when on vacation trips, being free from business worries and having time and opportunity to look the candidate over, or to calmly consider proposals.

And why not go for 'em, particularly those pokey, scary fellows who seem ever to be waiting for a chance to propose yet never doing it? If brought right to the scratch and made to understand that they are up against a fair proposition, no doubt nearly every one would capitulate and thank their captors for the opportunity to do so neatly and with dispatch.

As a rule the bachelor is only slow and nothing more. Sometimes he is timid or a bit scary, and like the boy-afraid-to-plunge, needs to be pushed in. When caught and harnessed he will work all right and settle down to domestic routine with becoming grace and dignity.

* * * * *

There are a lot of bachelors hereabouts who need to be encouraged; others who should be taken by the hand and led into the way in which they should go, and there are still others who need a good, hard push or a shove that will send them headlong into the sea of matrimony.

It will require some nerve to do this effectively, but the girls have it all right and all that prevents them from employing it in this way is the inbred feeling that it isn't proper or good form.

There are a lot of old fogy notions that we would do well to get rid of. These are new and improved times, and we must catch the step if we want to keep up with the procession.

It is one thing to fall in with a man and by cultivating his acquaintance, if agreeable, win his respect and admiration, which is the basis of manly love, but it is quite another thing to chase a man, bump into him whenever possible and hold to him as if in fear that he might escape.

There isn't anything else, or hardly anything, that makes a man so leary of a woman as to be chased by her, for anything more tiresome than toting her all the time, while persistent bumping is certain to make him sore.

* * * * *

The prayer of every bachelor is to be delivered from the industrious mamma who locates at popular resorts with a view of auctioning off her stock of daughters. Like the busy barker she is ever crying her wares, and so fulsome are her remarks and so anxious does she seem that your experienced bachelor becomes suspicious and shies her section of the pike.

But that needn't disturb the wise girl, for she doesn't need her mamma, nor anyone else to bark for her. By her style and deportment she announces what she is, and without boldness or boasting invites investigation. Nor does she fear criticism since she is all that she appears to be.

Good men, and true, are not slow to notice the wise girl, and when they approach her they put best foot foremost, for they know she will look at them with both eyes and size them up to a dot.

The wise girl is in great demand, and for that reason she isn't to be picked up at any old time, nor caught with a bank account, nor with a name, nor even with a title. She is looking for a man, pure and simple, and she isn't caring much whether he is wealthy or not, for she knows that a genuine man will get through life very comfortably.

* * * * *

It is different in China.

How thankful all bachelors should be that they are not Chinamen.

The old maid, however, may wish that she had been born in the land of contraries, for then her fate would necessarily have been different.

A Chinese girl, in a letter to the Independent, tells her American girl friends about girl life in her country, from which the following is clipped:

The reason why a Chinese girl is betrothed so long before she is married is, as my parents have explained to me, because the Chinese like to have worldly affairs settled as soon as possible. Parents wish to be sure that whatever may happen to them, their daughter will be taken care of, therefore, every family, even the poorest, is anxious to secure a daughter's betrothal just as soon as the family can afford it. In families of the upper class there is no anxiety as to their settlement of a daughter, but marriages are often arranged to cement friendship between two families.

On the girl's side the parents wish to know of the character, cleverness and the social standing of the boy; on the boy's side, they would be more careful about the temper and disposition of the young lady. It is thought in China that a girl's true nature may be seen at five or six years better than when she becomes old, as American girls are, because as she gains knowledge she learns how to hide those traits which are disagreeable.

If a girl has been betrothed and her husband dies before they are married she may marry someone else if she wishes. Her parents may persuade her to do this, but they cannot force her to it. She has the privilege of going to live in her dead husband's house to be taken care of by his family as long as she lives. Sometimes when a girl's parents have urged her to marry against her will, after her betrothed husband has died, she has committed suicide. If a girl should die and the betrothed husband live, she is mourned by the family as his wife, and when the families are on very intimate terms she may be buried in the vault of her husband, even though the marriage ceremony has not taken place.

* * * * *

But far away Tibet can give China cards and spades and still win out easy, if we may rely upon Jameson Reid's letter to the Booklovers' Magazine:

When a Tibetan warrior, surfeited with the glory of martial life, desires a wife, he waits upon the father of the girl who has attracted his eye and makes an offer of marriage. The father, after weighing the matter carefully—for a refusal is likely to provoke a long and bloody feud—in turn waits upon the priests and acquaints them with the nature of the offer, at the same time paying to them a munificent bribe in order to secure the answer of the deities as to whether the marriage should be entered into.

"For a month," he goes on to say, "the accepted suitor must keep the family of his favored one supplied with meat and other luxuries, and must be on his guard against rival suitors.

"At the end of a month the chosen one is invited to a grand feast by the father of the girl, where the betrothal is sealed by each cutting a small incision in the arm and mingling the blood flowing from the wound. This function of blood brotherhood having been finished, the girl is brought forward—smeared with grease and various colored pigments, adorned in all her finery, and with a rope tied around her neck as a badge of subservience.

"Then ensues a scene of the shrewdest bargaining, the father dilating on the good points of the girl much in the manner of a connoisseur of blooded stock. The wishes of the woman are never consulted, but the bargaining goes on for days, and even weeks, until a final settlement has been arrived at.

"The requisite price having been paid, she is led to the house of her husband, where she is subjected to a severe beating in order properly to humble her spirit, and made to run around the village loudly proclaiming the merits and valor of her husband."

Gettysburg Guides

THE STROLLER.

They say in Gettysburg that every native of the town who is not afflicted with an impediment in his speech is a battlefield guide. In times when the old Adams county town entertains more than its usual number of visitors this is literally true, and during the recent National Guard encampment guides were quite as numerous as visitors. The farmers locked up their homes out the Emmittsburg road and came to town with spring wagons to reap the harvest which was to be made by driving tourists over the field.

Col. Sam Moody, quartermaster general on the governor's staff, with several fellow members of the governor's staff and a Gazette correspondent were hailed at the headquarters tents early one morning by a bewhiskered old farmer who offered to drive the party over the battlefield for a very moderate sum. His offer was accepted and the tourists climbed into the wagon and soon were being jerked along the road behind a long-suffering team of freckled gray nags that looked as if they had seen service in the carnage of '63.

The stories of the various guides at Gettysburg do not coincide in all particulars in regard to details of the great fight. Of course, there are a number of reliable men who tell its story in the most graphic and interesting way, but this guide did not belong to that class. However, his tales were unique and offered no little diversion, inasmuch as every member of his party was familiar with the field and had often before traveled over its sacred ground with men who could describe every movement in that memorable conflict.

In 1863 Col. Moody was not very old. He is still young—especially in spirit. If he had been of fighting age in the civil war there is no doubt but that he would have been in the thick of the scrimmage, because he is put up on the belligerent plan. But fate was against him and he did not see Gettysburg until years after the battle. (This explanation is necessary to the intelligent understanding of a bit of conversation which occurred with the guide.)

"You lived here at the time of the battle?" ventured Col. Moody.

"Oh, yes," replied the farmer. "I lived down there by that house which we passed before we rounded the last bend in the road."

The colonel's face lighted up instinctively and then became serious. Then it lighted up again and he addressed the guide:

"And you don't remember me?"

The guide let his reins drop and gazed into the colonel's eyes for a minute without speaking.

"You said you were here at the time of the fight," repeated the colonel with a vexed expression.

"Well, now," persisted the farmer, hastening to qualify his statement, "you know I was not here just when the fight was going on because you know my house was shot full of holes, and I skedaddled over back of the ridge."

"My dear fellow, don't misunderstand me," said Col. Moody. "I didn't mean to insinuate that you sat on the housetop an made grimaces at the cannon balls, but you were here as long as civilians dared remain?"

"Oh, yes, sirree," answered the guide. "They started shootin' before I left."

"And you don't remember me?"

The old man chewed his tobacco with a little more energy and pondered.

"Don't you remember that crowd of soldiers that rushed through the yard around your house and ate everything you had in the place? Don't you remember that drummer boy that drank the buttermilk and ate the fried chicken? There was a hole in the head of the drum where a bullet had passed through."

"Shake!"

The guide extended his hand and shook the colonel with all the enthusiasm of an old comrade.

"And you're that drummer boy? I'd a-knowed you in Jericho. How've you been, anyhow? I allus wondered what became of you. Oh, I remember you well."

A few minutes of silence followed. The spring wagon followed the broad roadway, down a little hill and up to a point in a bit of woodland where the guide stopped to point some particular point of interest. Then he gazed at Col. Moody suspiciously and asked:

"That was a squad of cavalry that ran through my yard, wasn't it?"

"Well, I do not know as to that," replied the colonel with serene unconcern. "But we were brigaded with a regiment of cavalry and I suppose they rushed through about the same time. Minutes were precious then, you know."

The old farmer liked to tell of the terrific losses. He pointed to spots where 500 men were slaughtered. If his tales had been correct neither Meade nor Lee would have had 10 men left after the fight. Then he pointed out numerous relics.

"I see why you have tin roofs on the barns," said the colonel. "It makes a fine place for the relics to rust."

And thereafter the guide drove on in silence.

This Is Laid on the Silent One.

Charles W. Goodyear, spoken of as a possible Democratic candidate for governor, is reported in the Times as saying: "If I should decide to become a candidate I won't stand for any lying or concealment as to whom I have voted for, or what principles I have been willing to accept as good American Democratic doctrines." Really, Mr. Goodyear is almost too severe upon the methods by which Candidate Parker obtained his nomination and the methods by which the Parker organs justified his acts.—New York Tribune.

The Death Roll

Miss Anna Jones.

Miss Anna Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, of No. 613 Jones avenue, North Braddock, died yesterday after an illness of 12 weeks, of typhoid fever. She was 25 years old and for four years had been a teacher in the Shady Park school of North Braddock. She was a graduate of the North Braddock High school and of the Slippery Rock State Normal school. She was a member of the First United Brethren church of Braddock. Besides her parents she is survived by these brothers and sisters: John O. Jones, borough secretary of North Braddock; Mary, the wife of Dr. E. M. Bartilson and, Harry and Margaret, at home.

Louis Gutzsell.

Louis Gutzsell, a prominent German resident of Braddock, died at his home in Stokes avenue, yesterday. He was born in Berlin, Germany, 51 years ago and came to this country when 27 years old. He located in Allegheny, where he lived for 15 years. Nine years ago he removed to Braddock. He was one of the old employes of the Westinghouse interests and was an expert mechanic. He was a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church of Braddock, from which the funeral will take place at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. He is survived by his widow.

Frank Lockard.

Frank Lockard, aged 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Lockard of No. 5535 Broad street, died at his home last evening as a result of a tumor. He was born in Altoona, lived in Allegheny for a time and for the past 14 years had made his home in this city. Funeral services will take place at the late home this evening at 8 o'clock to be followed by interment at Altoona. His parents and one brother, W. G. Lockard, survive.

Obituary Notes.

Mark H. Dunnell, former Republican congressman from the Eighth Minnesota district, died yesterday of heart disease at Owatonna, Minn.

James Cox Aikens, former lieutenant governor of Manitoba and formerly secretary of state for Canada in Sir John A. Donald's administration, is dead in Toronto, of heart failure, aged 81.

John Tillman, aged 24 years, is dead at the home of his cousin, Paul Tillman, in Munhall, of typhoid fever after a short illness. The deceased was employed for many years in the Homestead steel works.

Frank E. Ohl, aged 37, proprietor of the Hotel Ohl, Millvale, died at his home, No. 123 Grant avenue, Allegheny, yesterday of catarrh of the stomach. He was born in Butler and had lived in Allegheny for 12 years. A widow, one daughter, two sons and his mother survive.

James A. Jacobs died at the home of his son, Harry P. Jacobs, in Charleroi, Pa., yesterday morning, after an illness of about three months. Mr. Jacobs was 64 years old. He was very well known throughout the Monongahela valley, having owned and run the ferry between Allenport and Fayette City for the last 15 years.

Mamie Gilroy, an actress and singer, who had appeared in many musical productions on the American stage, died at the home of her mother in New York yesterday. The cause of death was heart disease, which followed a brief illness. Miss Gilroy was at one time leading woman for the Girard Avenue Opera Company of Philadelphia.

William Clendenning is dead at his late home in East Waynesburg, Pa., from heart failure. He was 60 years old and is survived by his widow, three sons, Robert M., William N., and Milton L. Clendenning of Sistersville, W. Va.; Mrs. Anna Morris of Holbrook, Pa.; Mrs. J. G. Burns of Jacksonville, Pa., and the Misses Nellie and Jessie Clendenning of Waynesburg.

Mrs. Susan Truxall, aged 89, widow of William Truxall, died at Butler, Pa., yesterday. She was born in Fairview township, Butler county, and had lived in Butler 78 years. Her father, John McCullough, was a pioneer settler and conducted the first pottery in Butler county. She was an aunt of Solomon and Luther McCullough and a grandaunt of ex-Prothonotary James M. McCullough, and Attorney W. C. McCullough. Four children, Felix of New Castle; James of Pittsburgh, Samuel of Butler and Mrs. Harriett Stauffer of Beaver Falls, survive her. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

PERSONALS

The doctrines of Henry George were expounded last evening by John Z. White of Chicago at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Single Tax association, held at the Hotel Henry. About 50 members were present. "During the past two centuries we have secured religious liberty," said Mr. White, "and we have secured political liberty and equity; we have abolished slavery and serfdom, and done many other commendable acts toward the advancement of civilization. It requires money to bring about these essential reforms, and the question as to how to secure and from where the money is to come is the vital question before the American people. Our plan is to secure all our revenue from the property owners and not tax the man who depends upon his daily toil for a livelihood." Next winter Mr.

GLASSPORT HAS ANGRY DISPUTE

Strike at Foundry Results in Fights and Arrest of Officials.

WILL ASK THE SHERIFF'S AID

As a finale to two days of exciting incidents in the strike of the employes of the Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Company at Glassport, the superintendent of the foundry, Duncan McDoughal, Detective J. S. Sweitzer, Constable Frederick Domin and another watchman were all arrested last evening by Chief of Police Peter Kelley. They are charged with disorderly conduct. The complaint grew out of an attempt yesterday afternoon to arrest strikers.

The outcome will be that Supt. McDoughal will go into court this morning and ask for an injunction to prevent the strikers from interfering with the work. He will also ask the sheriff's aid by the appointment of deputy sheriffs, claiming that he receives no protection from the borough authorities.

The strike has been a peaceful affair for a month and the serious phases did not develop until Sunday. Since that time there has been fighting which has assumed the character of rioting and the police officers are lined up against one another as well as the union against the non-union men.

At the Gross hotel, a block from the company's plant, Constable Fred Domin attempted yesterday to arrest William Fiedler, a striker. George Carothers, it is alleged, interfered with the arrest. Carothers himself had just been released from jail, having been committed there in the morning on $300 bail on a charge of assault. When he interfered Constable Domin let Fiedler go to catch the interferer. Chief of Police Peter Kelley appeared on the scene and ordered Domin to let Carothers go. Domin refused, however, until Duncan McDoughal, superintendent of the foundry, repeated Chief Kelley's orders. The constable and Detective S. J. Sweitzer then swore out warrants before Justice George Pastre charging the following with interfering with an officer: George Carothers, John Church, John Dunbar and Anderson Rumsey. Dunbar was released on $100 bail.

William Shinn of Braddock, who works at the foundry, in an information against one of the men, charged that he was knocked down and beaten by a crowd of strikers. When his wife attempted to help him she, too, was beaten, he alleges.

William Dailey, a non-union man, is alleged to have drawn a revolver when surrounded by union men near the foundry Saturday evening. Chief Kelley has a warrant for the arrest of Dailey, but has been unable to locate him.

While the trouble with Dailey was in progress, Barney Morrow, an employe of a glass company, was passing and also came in for a severe beating. He has made information charging Isaac Evans with the offense.

John Donovan has been arrested by Detective William Walker, charged with trespass. Detective Sweitzer charges that on Sunday night Carothers and Andrew Coates, mistaking him for a non-union worker, assaulted him. It was on this charge that Carothers had been arrested and returned to Glassport, only to become mixed up with another affair.

The police force of Glassport consists of three men, and the outlook for more trouble is such that the talk of asking the sheriff for a larger force was very general in the borough yesterday.

JOHN M. CUNNINGHAM LOST HIS LIFE IN BEAVER RIVER

Well-Known Engineer and Official of West Pittsburgh Realty Company Meets Sudden Death.

John M. Cunningham, general manager of the West Pittsburgh Realty Company, lost his life at noon yesterday, in the Beaver river, at the new town in the founding of which he has had an active part.

Coroner Porter investigated the drowning and decided that an inquest was not necessary.

Mr. Cunningham with George Wallace, a local real estate man, had been examining property at Belmont, across the river from West Pittsburgh, from where they tried to ford the river, 50 feet below the Moravia bridge, which was destroyed last winter. They were 20 feet too far up stream and drove into a hole 20 feet deep and 25 feet wide. As the buggy began to sink Mr. Cunningham leaped from the rig, over Mr. Wallace who followed him. Mr. Cunningham was unable to swim and the current threw him against the sinking buggy which carried him down. Mr. Wallace saved himself by reaching an island in the channel where he fell exhausted and unconscious. A woman at Belmont saw the accident and ran for help, but it was half an hour before a rescue party was organized. Mr. Cunningham was dead when found. Mr. Wallace revived in half an hour.

Mr. Cunningham leaves many friends. He was known as an engineer of much ability and great promise. He was a graduate of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y., and served a number of the leading steel companies of this city in an engineering capacity, working for the Carnegie Steel Company, the Schulz Bridge and Iron Company and the Garland interests. He was an officer in the Westinghouse Machine Company for several years.

Until a few years ago Mr. Cunningham resided in Pittsburgh. He removed to New Castle, where his children now live. He was a member of Trinity Episcopal church of that city. He belonged also to Duquesne Commandery, No. 72, Knights Templar, Syria Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and the Pittsburgh Consistory in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Cunningham was a son of Maj. Cushman Cunningham of Wooster, O. He is survived by his father and wife and by three brothers and two sisters. They are: B. L. Cunningham of West Pittsburgh, Allan, Howard C. Cunningham, Mrs. C. H. Dalrymple and Mrs. H. T. Chitwood, of Oregon. He was a nephew of Mrs. D. B. Oliver of Allegheny.

Charged With Embezzlement.

W. A. Watts of Fourth avenue was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement preferred by J. J. Wetzel before Magistrate Stewart. Wetzel is the manager of the United Local Express Company at 528 New Grant street. It is alleged in the information that Watts collected money for the express company and failed to turn it in at the office.

POLICE ORDERED TO RENEW BONDS

Must Be Secured from Favored Surety Company and Renewed Every Year.

CAUSES FRESH DISCONTENT

Fresh discontent has broken out among the employes of the police bureau because of an order issued yesterday by Supt. "Buck" Wallace that every member of the police force must renew at once his bond for another year, and that this bond must be secured from a favored surety firm in the Frick building at the rate of $2.50 per bond. Despite their decided objections the members of the police force are compelled to obey the order rather than fall under the ban of their superiors.

This order has caused widespread anger among the bluecoats, coming as it does, after being forced by the police officials to contribute to the payment of the damage claim against Roger O'Mara and after O'Mara's refusal to allow the police force to participate in the pension fund while he himself is a pensioner. When the new administration came into power last year every "copper" and fireman was compelled to get bond from the same company in the Frick building.

Supt. Wallace tells his men that these bonds are good for only one year and that it will cost them $2.50 every year to renew them. There are between 500 and 600 employes in the police bureau including substitutes, and the collection of $2.50 from each man means that the favored company will receive at least $1,500 from the police and as much more from the firemen. As far as could be ascertained orders to renew their bonds have not been received by the firemen, but they are daily expecting such orders.

There is considerable curiosity among them why Supt. Wallace selects one surety company to furnish the bonds instead of allowing a policeman to go to any reliable trust company and questions are also asked why he forces his men to get a new bond every year instead of a bond good as long as a man is on the force, as was the system under the old administration.

Under the former administration a policeman or fireman could furnish a bond with any property owner on it and it was good as long as the man remained in the city service. He was not compelled to pay a fee of $2.50 each year, the only charge being 25 or 50 cents to a notary for drawing up the bond. If a man was unable to get a property owner on his bond he was permitted to go to any trust company.

"These bonds are no good either to us or the city," said a well known policeman on a downtown beat last night. "It does not protect the city from any suit for damages against an officer for false arrest, or for any misconduct except that of stealing. If an officer commits theft the individual who suffers can recover from the city and the city can in turn recover from the company, but in no other case can the city receive any benefits from these bonds."

PORTER IN HARMONY WITH ISRAEL W. DURHAM

No Truth in Report That There Is Lack of Harmony Among Philadelphia Republicans.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—Ex-State Senator Charles Porter, one of the former leaders of the Republican organization of Philadelphia, today emphatically denied the published story that he was at the head of a movement to wrest political control from Israel W. Durham.

"Not only is the interview attributed to me untrue," said Mr. Porter, "but I have not even been interviewed by anyone, on politics for a long time. Personally I am a loyal supporter of Mr. Durham and the regular Republican organization. So are all of my close friends. To be placed in such a false position is very annoying. The paper that printed the story must be driven to mid-summer extremes."

City Chairman James Miles said tonight that no credence had been given the yarn in reference to Senator Porter.

"There is no factional trouble of any kind among Philadelphia Republicans," he said, "and none is expected. The Republican ticket this fall will receive unprecedented majorities."

Congressman H. H. Bingham returned today from Lake Placid in the Adirondacks where Commissioner Durham has established his camp, Kilkare. He reports Mr. Durham to be in improved health and spirits, and says he will not return before September 15.

PROMISED SENSATION IN ALLEGHENY FALLS FLAT

Policeman Amos Dachroth Fails to Present Charges to the Police Judicial Board.

The sensation promised in Allegheny municipal affairs by the published statements of Amos Dachroth, a policeman, seems to have fallen flat, either because of indisposition or inability on the part of Dachroth to carry out his threats of "graft" exposure. Supt. Campbell, of the North Side police bureau, had a talk with Dachroth yesterday and the latter was informed that he would be given an opportunity to lay before the police judicial board the charges that he declared he was going to make against certain officials whose operations among the demi-monde of the city, he intimates, are of a vicious character. The police board met last night but Dachroth failed to attend or to send by any source the information in specific form that he made public in a general statement.

Several weeks ago when Lieut. Jacob Snyder was summarily dismissed from the service and Lieut. Adam Neumer transferred to the Fourth district, Dachroth announced that he would not remain on the force and he under command of Neumer. He was granted leave of absence at his request. In the interim he composed a letter that was a scathing denunciation of the character of Police Capt. James Wilson. This, according to report, he threatened to turn over to the district attorney. His public charges against the manner in which corruption is practiced by certain officials, whose names he did not give, followed the threatened attack upon Capt. Wilson.

The police board last night suspended for 15 days two patrolmen accused of neglect of duty. Their names will not be made public unless the finding of the trial board meets with the approval of the mayor.

DENOUNCES SUBWAY SALOON.

Presbyterian Permanent Committe on Temperance Will Act Today.

William C. Lilley, chairman, and the Rev. Dr. J. J. Hill, secretary of the permanent committee of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, who have headquarters in the Conestoga building, will confer today for the purpose of drawing up resolutions on behalf of the committee in denouncing the action of Bishop Potter of New York in dedicating the "subway saloon."

Mr. Lilley stated yesterday that he believed the bishop's action placed the whole American church on the defensive in the matter of temperance, and that he felt in duty bound, as chairman of the temperance committee of the one of the largest denominations in the country, to express himself and the opinion of the committee on the matter.

Bank for West McKees Rocks.

A new bank owned by M. C. O'Donovan is in course of construction at Island avenue and Donovan street, West McKees Rocks. The building will be 80 feet long and 66 feet wide. There will be six banking rooms, six store rooms and 12 rooms for flats. The McKees Rocks Trust Company and the Island Avenue Real Estate Company have an option on the banking rooms, and a new company is expected to be formed to operate the bank. This will be the only bank in West McKees Rocks.

North Braddock Firemen Confident.

The North Braddock volunteer fire department will attend the firemen's convention at Connellsville this year and expect to bring home several of the prizes, including those in the hub and hub and the hose races. Capt. William Aites has picked 15 of the fastest runners out of his forces of 50, which he intends to put against anything at the convention.

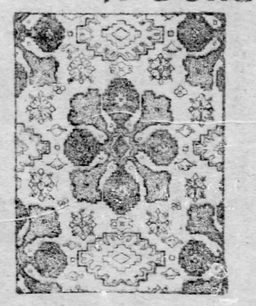
Inlaid Linoleum

THE FACE THAT WILL NOT WEAR OFF

A Dollar and a Quarter a Yard.



$1.25
A Square Yard Instead of $1.60.

HAVE you ever carefully examined a piece of good Inlaid Linoleum? You first looked at the edge and learned that each block was a solid color running through to the back. You bent it between your hands, how solid and compact it was—one solid mass of cement and cork. No possible way for the patterns and colors to get lost. That is the reason they are used in Public Halls, Stores, Offices and Restaurants, and housekeepers are fast learning that they are the cheapest kitchen-floor covering—considering the long years of service.

To get them for less than $1.60 a square yard is unusual. But here are quite a lot in desirable Tile, Block and Wood floor patterns; all two yards wide. Not a big stock, but a good selection for all that. Instead of $1.60 the price is $1.25 a square yard.

NEW BOYS' BUILDING FOR MT. PLEASANT INSTITUTE

Estimated Cost $60,000—Pittsburgh People on Committee in Charge of the Work.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MT. PLEASANT, PA., Aug. 8.—Mount Pleasant institute, a college preparatory school for both sexes, is about to erect a new boys' building at an estimated cost of $60,000. The board of trustees has placed John A. Murphy and William S. Power of Pittsburgh, and Principal H. C. Dixon and C. E. Mullin of Mount Pleasant, in charge of the enterprise. The gentlemen have had plans prepared and have appointed as financial secretary, the Rev. Henry Madtes of Sharpsburg, who is increasing the amount already subscribed by citizens of Mount Pleasant, the board of trustees and friends of the school.

The proposed new building is similar in design to Rockefeller hall at Vassar college. It will have 66 rooms for resident students and teachers, besides an assembly hall, library, laboratory, art, music and recitation rooms. In the basement will be a dining hall and a gymnasium, equipped with shower baths. It will be one of the finest academy buildings in the state. While raising funds for this purpose it is intended to purchase additional ground for an athletic field and to increase the school's endowment fund. The school now has an endowment fund of $46,000, owns two buildings and four acres of ground—a total property value of about $80,000. The old boys' building, about to be replaced, has an interesting history. It was built about 60 years ago and served as a college building for the United Brethren and Reformed denominations until the early 70s, when the Baptists purchased the property and have since occupied it as a preparatory school. Nearly every college, technical and professional school in the country has received recruits from here.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTIONS IN CONNELLSVILLE AND WARREN

Western Pennsylvania Association Convenes Today—Northwestern Laddies Have Opened Meeting.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 8.—The eleventh annual convention of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's association will open here tomorrow at 10 o'clock. John S. Musser of Barnesboro, president of the association, and the following officers arrived tonight: First Vice President Benjamin F. Hough, Wilmerding; Second Vice President William Venter, McKees Rocks; Third Vice President Edward Pohland, Latrobe; Secretary W. H. Sharah, Braddock; and Treasurer James H. Stele, Wilkinsburg. A gala time is being had tonight by the 10 companies that arrived today. The bands are serenading and uniformed firemen are crowding the streets. Among those who will be missed at this year's convention will be Chief John F. Mitinger of Greensburg, the fourth president of the association; Chief Charles E. Stillwagon of Connellsville, and Chief Joseph Meuring of Rochester. All these have died during the last year.

WARREN, PA., Aug. 8.—The tenth annual convention of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Volunteer Firemen opened here today. The city is brilliantly decorated and the electrical illumination tonight is superior to anything ever attempted here before. In addition to the convention there is a carnival, with scores of features. The regular program will be taken up tomorrow and by Wednesday it is expected there will be 20,000 visitors in the city. Bell Isle, a beautiful island in the Allegheny river, has been transformed into a charming park and thousands of electric lights make this one of the attractive features. On Thursday the big firemen's parade will take place, participated in by at least 40 companies. There will be races, baseball and other sports. The business men's parade took place tonight. Beautiful floats were features of the procession.

OHIO A. O. H. CONVENTION IS TO BE OPENED TODAY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 8.—The advance guard of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, who will attend the 11th biennial state convention, are arriving tonight and it is expected that by tomorrow morning there will be fully 5,000 in the city for the opening. Besides the delegates to the regular order there are a large number of members of the Ladies' auxiliary. The city has been decorated in honor of the guests. The parade will take place tomorrow afternoon.

The convention will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in Excelsior hall, after a solemn high mass at St. Columbia's church. The convention will be formally opened by State President T. S. Hogan, there will be prayer by the state chaplain, a speech of welcome by Mayor W. T. Gibson and response by President Hogan. At 2 o'clock all will meet in Central square to participate in the parade. There will be several thousand in line. At 6 o'clock the six competitive drills will be held in which six companies of equipped members will compete, the following cash prizes being awarded the winners: First, $100; second $60; third, $40. Large delegations are expected from Cleveland and other places in the state, as well as from New Castle and Sharon to participate in the parade tomorrow.

BODY HALTED AT GRAVE.

Friends Demand Post-Mortem Examination, Which Occurs, Interrupting the Interment.

LATROBE, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—After a long procession of cabs and carriages, headed by a brass band, had escorted the body of John Lowery of Loyalhanna to St. Marys cemetery, the burial ceremony was interrupted by friends of the dead man, who insisted that Lowery had been the victim of foul play. A messenger was hurried to Latrobe, and Dr. J. K. Blair, with other physicians, was summoned to make a post-mortem examination. The body was taken from the casket, and in the presence of friends and members of the Knights of St. George, to which Lowery had belonged, a thorough examination was conducted. Nothing was found to substantiate the charge, and the body was put back in the casket and interred.

Lowery, who was about 23 years old, left Loyalhanna last Tuesday for Pittsburg, carrying with him more than $100. On Friday he went in bathing with companions in the Youghiogheny river and was drowned. His money disappeared and marks on the body caused suspicion.

Inspected M. & K. Extension Route.

A party consisting of J. A. Martin, Fred E. Dean and William Reed of Niagara Falls have been over the proposed route of the Morgantown & Kingwood railroad from Bretz toward Kingwood. After the party had completed their tour of inspection Mr. Dean gave out this statement:

"The impression that the route is an easy one is a mistake. There is one cut with more than 20,000 yards of dirt in it. The road will be quite a job to build and it will be no snap for the man who gets the contract. It will take a big plant. We have not submitted any estimates as to what the work will cost and it is not settled that we are to do it, but I hope to secure the contract. The road is to be extended 14 miles, which will take it to Kingwood, but only about half of this distance will be traveled this fall. The grade is no more to go much more than this. The Morgantown & Kingwood is in splendid shape. It is laid with 80-pound rails to Bretz and it is well ballasted all along the route."

POLICEMEN BEFORE BANK RESULTS IN A RUN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 8.—A run on the Wilkesbarre Savings and Deposit bank was started today by hundreds of foreigners, who had savings accounts there. Several policemen standing idly in front of the bank on Saturday night were seen by some foreigner, who started a rumor that the bank had been robbed. This spread through the foreigners' settlement with great rapidity, and long before banking hours this morning crowds of them were gathered about the savings institution. There was much excitement, but the bank met the payments, while interpreters tried hard to explain that nothing was wrong. The foreigners would not be convinced, and drew out their money.

NAME IS TROUBLESOME.

Therefore Mr. Bjorseth Petitions That Hereafter He May Be Mr. Stevenson.

HARRISBURG, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Because Americans cannot pronounce or spell his name, and it has brought about unpleasant complications in regarding the delivery of his mail, Steffen E. Bjorseth of this city made application to the Dauphin county court today to have his name changed to Stephen E. Stevenson.

Bjorseth is a Norwegian by birth, and became a naturalized American citizen in California in 1896. He has served two terms of enlistment in the United States regular army and is a railway mail clerk running between New York and Pittsburgh. His application will be filed in the prothonotary's office for three months, when, if no objection is made, Bjorseth will have his name changed as he desires.

Golden Wedding Celebrated.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The golden wedding anniversary of Captain and Mrs. Milton S. Marquis, prominent residents of this city, was informally observed tonight at their residence here. They were married August 8, 1854, at New Brighton, the bride's maiden name being Martha Stoffer. Shortly after their marriage they located here. Capt. Marquis has been identified with iron manufacturing interests since leaving the canal, where he secured his title.

Two Victims of Trains.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Bryan Welsh, a Baltimore & Ohio railroad employe at Piedmont, W. Va., was crushed to death yesterday morning in the Piedmont yards while working between two cars. An unknown Italian employed at the Wabash camp was struck by a passenger train Saturday night at Green Spring, W. Va., and died at the hospital here yesterday.

IMAGE OF TREE IMPRINTED ON MAN BY LIGHTNING

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., Aug. 8.—A storm, accompanied by loss of life and destruction of property amounting to thousands of dollars, visited the northern and southern parts of Butler county Saturday evening. Near Sarversville, in Buffalo township, Elmer Westerman, aged 20, while at work in a harvest field, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. A tree was first struck and the bolt ran along the ground and hit Westerman. An exact and distinct image of the tree, in miniature, was found on Westerman's skin. North of Butler, from Jacksville to Troutman, thousands of acres of wheat, oats and buckwheat were beaten down. Corn was stripped and orchards were denuded of fruit, leaves and young branches. Hailstones still lay in heaps in fence corners Sunday morning.

Joseph W. Barron's barn, in Worth township, was struck by lightning and burned with all its contents. A flock of stock Merino sheep, which cost $10 per head, were burned. The loss is $4,000, partly covered by insurance. Carpenter Hackenberry had 800 panes of glass broken and John Grossman 60.

Sues H. C. Frick Coke Company.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—E. L. Brindle of Unity township has brought an action of trespass against the H. C. Frick Coke Company for $20,000 damages. Brindle recently sold the coal underlying his farm, reserving that under his buildings. He says the company's operations have drawn the water from his springs and that they have caused the walls of his dwelling house to crack.

Victims of Boiler Explosion.

ASHTABULA, O., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The boiler of Lake Shore locomotive No. 771 exploded today near Amboy, east of here. Fireman Guy Amsden of Ashtabula, was terribly burned and bruised and lived but a short time. Engineer Patrick Griffin was thrown 30 feet by the explosion. His arm was fractured at the wrist and he was badly scalded and bruised.

Silver Found in Maryland.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—H. Clay Robinette, until recently a copper miner in Arizona, returned here several weeks ago to prospect the eastern end of the county for anthracite coal and it is stated he had found silver in paying quantities.

Death Warrant Read to Prinkki.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Jacob Prinkki, the Finlander under sentence of death for the murder of William G. Kelsey, the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad operator at East Charleroi, last November, this morning heard his death warrant read. His jailers fear he will attempt suicide.

HUNGER DRIVES STACK TO PLACE OF CAPTURE

Held for Murder in First Degree for the Killing of Risbin.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

IRWIN, PA., Aug. 8.—Thomas Stack, the one-legged man charged with killing James Risbin Sunday morning, was arrested this evening at the home of his father in Coal Hollow by Burgess C. C. Rodgers. Stack made no resistance and walked to the lockup. He had been in hiding since early this morning. This evening when the burgers went to the house the elder Stack was questioned about his son's whereabouts. The old man broke down and said Thomas was in the house. He was found in a back room and as the officer appeared in the doorway, Stack said, "I'll go with you."

Stack does not deny the shooting, but gives no reason, except that he was drunk. He says he was driven to get something to eat and started for home, arriving at 4 o'clock in the morning. The county commissioners offered a reward of $100 for Stack's arrest and a large party was out looking for him. Coroner Wynn held an inquest this evening. It developed that Stack and a crowd were drinking at the Coal Hollow arch of the Pennsylvania railroad. Risbin had been down town until late and went to his home just a short distance from the arch. He heard the men and started out to see who they were. Mrs. Risbin begged her husband not to go, saying Stack was in the crowd and would make trouble. Risbin did not heed her advice. Ten minutes later he was shot. The verdict of the coroner's jury was murder in the first degree.

PENNSYLVANIA LAYS OFF 72 MORE EMPLOYES

HARRISBURG, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Another retrenchment order, affecting 72 employes in the freight service of the middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad, becomes effective today. When the order assigning engines to the regular crews of the division became effective recently, it was found that there were more crews than engines at hand, and a number of regulars were put on the extra list. Twenty-eight engineers on the Harrisburg side and seven on the Altoona side and 10 firemen are affected by the order.

Epidemic of Diphtheria.

WAYNESBURG, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—There is an epidemic of diphtheria at Burnsville, Pa. Four deaths have occurred: a son of Hamilton Carroll, aged 15, a son of William Martin, aged 6; a daughter of Montgomery Sprowls, aged 15; and a daughter of John Sprowl, aged 10. There are 10 new cases.

Farmer Assaulted and Horse Stolen.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—While driving to his home in the Chestnut Ridge, near Kecksburg, last evening, William Patrofsky, a farmer, was fatally assaulted and his horse stolen by two men.

MRS. PHIPPS SAID TO HAVE BEGUN A FIGHTING SUIT

Denver Report That Motion Has Been Made to Quash Complaint Denied Here.

Word was received from Denver last night to the effect that Mrs. Genevieve C. Phipps had filed a motion in the courts there asking that the service of papers, the summons and the returns made by the sheriff in the divorce case now pending against her by her husband, Lawrence C. Phipps, be quashed. The motion is said to have been argued before Judge Mullins last week.

Should such motion prevail there would be no case against Mrs. Phipps legally, and the parties to the suit would be in the same position as previous to the order secured by Mr. Phipps for the custody of his children and the rights to parcels of property which had stood in the name of his wife.

James S. Young, local attorney for Mrs. Phipps, is in Cape May, but is expected home tonight, while former Judge J. H. Reed, who has represented Mr. Phipps locally, is also out of the city. In answer to the question as to whether the report from Denver was true, Mrs. Phipps said, at her home last night that the case was entirely in the hands of her attorneys and that she had no knowledge of any legal proceedings having been taken in Denver in her behalf.

DR. RIDDLE LECTURED.

Others Also Discussed Subjects at the Grove City Bible School—The Rev. Hugh Black Preached.

GROVE CITY, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—At today's session of the Grove City Bible school, Dr. M. B. Riddle of the Western Theological seminary and Prof. C. F. Sitterly, S. T. D., of the Drew Theological seminary each continued his lecture upon New Testament studies. The Rev. Dr. John De Davis of the Princeton Theological seminary lectured upon "Isaiah." Rev. Dr. Forest E. Dager, rector of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church, Philadelphia, delivered his first address upon Sabbath school work, his topic being, "How to Win and Hold Attention." Prof. George M. Sleeth of the Western Theological seminary gave an hour's lesson upon oratory and Dr. Bowen of Boston university continued his lectures upon philosophy. This evening Rev. Hugh Black of Edinburgh, Scotland, delivered a sermon upon "Esau."

Elks' Concert This Evening.

Allegheny lodge, B. P. O. Elks, No. 339, yesterday decided to hold their open-air concert from the balcony of the club house in Cedar avenue this evening instead of tomorrow evening as scheduled. The change was made at the request of Director McElvain, who has announced a concert in Riverview park for tomorrow evening.

COMMITTEE TO INSPECT RIVERS AND HARBORS

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Representative Burton of Ohio has stopped in Washington on his way to New York city, where the house rivers and harbors committee starts next Wednesday on an extensive trip of inspection. From New York the committee goes to Boston and will stay in that city Thursday and Friday, August 11 and 12. The time from Saturday to Tuesday of the following week will be divided between points in Southeastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island, Newport, Block Island, New Bedford, Fall River, Providence and Point Judith comprise this part of the itinerary. Point Judith will come in for especial attention.

Tuesday night the committee will reach New London, Wednesday will be devoted to that connecticut river, leaving New England the committee plans to make Buffalo by way of New York, reaching the former city Friday, August 19. That day and the following will be given to this lake port. Late Saturday the committee will take the steamer Northwest, with Duluth as the objective point. Nearly a week will be occupied with the inspection of Duluth harbor and the reservoirs at the headwaters of the Mississippi river.

On August 27 the committee will start for St. Louis by river steamer, with intent to inspect the upper part of that stream, for which improvement is earnestly demanded. Representative Burton evidently regards this trip as important as any the committee has made. It will have its influence on the framing of the next river and harbor bill.

L. W. STRAYER.

THIRD ARREST IS MADE.

Accomplice of the Assassin of M. Von Plehve in Prison at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—Members of the secret police of Odessa, Warsaw, Kieff and other centers, who were summoned here, have failed to identify the assassin of M. Von Plehve, the late minister of the interior. A third man, named Bernstein, recently arrested at Kieff as accomplice of the assassin, has been brought here. The assassin and his suspected accomplices are now incarcerated in the SS. Peter and Paul fortress.

It is reported that the police have discovered that the head of the plot was a man named Sevastianoff, who is now presumably in Russia, but the rumor has not been confirmed.

FILIPINOS IN PITTSBURGH EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON

Were Dressed in Native Costumes and Attracted Much Attention While at Union Station.

A party of Igorrotos, simply dressed in breech-clouts, were in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon and evening. They were on their way to pay a visit to Secretary of War Taft. They comprise part of the Phillippine exhibition at the World's Fair.

The party was in charge of F. Lewis, manager of the Moro village and Dr. T. K. Hunt, who had charge of the Igorrotos village on the Phillippine reservation. The Filipinos were Antonia, chief of the Bontoc Igorrotos; Bycassan, chief of the Suyac Igorrotos; Lolnes, a priest; Chomes, a judge; Datto Fecundo, prime minister of the Rajah and Nuda Mundi, the overlord of the Suncal Moros.

To the onlooker the party acted semi-civilized and peaceable. They were taken to the Star plant, at Twelfth street, and shown the machinery, which to them was marvelous. It was with difficulty that they were induced to leave the establishment. On several occasions the escorts had to move them by force to prevent them getting into danger. They were given supper in a down town restaurant and while they were enjoying the meal served in American style crowds of people gazed at their curious methods of eating. This was the second meal eaten in public in the United States; the other meal was taken in a hotel in Cincinnati, en route to Pittsburgh. Since leaving the Phillippines they have prepared their own food.

On their return from Washington they will be accompanied by several officials of the war department, including Secretary Taft and Admiral Lewer. The party will reach St. Louis in time to be present at the "Phillippine" day at the fair which is scheduled for August 13.

Republican Committees Meet.

BUTER, PA., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—At the call of County Chairman Jacob M. Painter, the Republican county committeemen of Butler and the city committee met in the Republican headquarters this evening and entered upon a plan of political work, which will be actively followed out from now on until the polls close November 8. Chairman Painter has transferred his offices and has a suite of rooms adjoining Republican headquarters. Meeting of sub-committees and workers were called and arrangements made for the details of campaign work.

Napolitano Was Sent to Jail.

Joseph Napolitano was sent to jail yesterday by Magistrate Stewart, to await the result of injuries inflicted on William Cleary. Cleary was walking in Forbes street on Saturday night and was struck by a bullet fired by the prisoner. Napolitano says three boys in front of the News boys home tried to rob him, and he fired his revolver, the bullet going wild.

KAUFMANN'S

"THE BIG STORE"

On Saturday, store closes as usual at 6:30 P. M.

Our annual MILL AND FACTORY SALE

"THE Big Store's" annual Mill and Factory Sale is one of the most important trade events of the entire year. And the present sale is the biggest of them all—comprehending the surplus lots and clearances of more than three score of the country's largest manufacturers, importers and wholesalers.

A million dollars' worth of goods specially bought for this occasion at concessions that enable our quoting 25 to 50c on the dollar for the season's best character of merchandise. All sorts of goods are embraced—wearables, furniture, housefurnishings, silks dress goods, linens, domestics, etc., etc.

We bought so largely this year because market conditions played most fortunately into our hands. The cancellation of orders throughout the country and also the lack of duplicate orders tied up the working capital of many houses—and compelled the sacrifice of stocks. And thus we were able to secure very large quantities of the most desirable goods at, in very many instances, less than the actual manufacturing cost.

Women's suits and waists for less than the cost of making

OF COURSE they're Spring and Summer goods, but the styles are almost identical with the fashions shown for Fall—and as they're offered at a half and even a third of their real value, they'll be quickly carried away by shrewd women shoppers.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—The Phillies made it two straight from the champion Pittsburgh team by winning today 15 to 5. Duffy's men played heady ball behind Pitcher Sparks while Pittsburgh batted and fielded like amateurs. Mike Lynch was easy from the start and was unable to control his outshoots, passing seven batsmen and being hit safely 18 times for a total of 27 bases.

Pittsburgh was further handicapped by the injury of Roscoe Miller and "Kitty" Bransfield, who were hurt by the breaking of the rear wheel of the coach in which the 14 players were being taken to the grounds.

Miller's wrist was sprained and Bransfield's instep was bruised. Harry Smith was lacerated about the legs. The men were thrown on top of one another and the wagon was dragged on its side for a considerable distance by the frightened horses. All the players were covered with dirt and grease.

Miller returned to the hotel, but the other players proceeded to the grounds in a street car. The mishap caused another change in the make up of the team. Harry Cassady arrived from Bloomington and is seen on the field. Catcher Ritchey covered first, Diehl played left field, and Kruger was again stationed at third. Tommy Leach was threatened with appendicitis. He has recovered and may play this afternoon. Leach viewed the game from the players' bench today.

President Dreyfuss and Secretary Locke arrived here today. They were surprised at the crippled condition of the team and pleased at the changes since Monday. Locke held back information to disclose. He said Sebring had been released to Cincinnati and that Pittsburgh was through with him. Harry McCormick is expected to join the team here. Locke said the club had no intention of making any changes in the present team, but was on the lookout to strengthen it. Harry Cassady in right field made a good impression, having two singles, a scored run and a sacrifice hit. He was quick in fielding. He bats like Willie Keeler, Wagner made two errors, a fumble and wild throw.

The Phillies found Lynch easy to hit from the start. Thomas hit a liner directly at Lynch, which he knocked. This batted safely and Kruger was too slow getting to Wolverton's bunt. With the bases full McGee singled to right, scoring Thomas and Titus. Gleason sacrificed and Wolverton scored on Doolin's fly to Ritchie. Bransfield's error in the third, went to second on Doolin's single and scored on Ritchie's failure to stop Roth's grounder.

The Phillies won out in the sixth. Thomas struck out and was put out at first to Bransfield. Titus was safe on Wagner's wild throw. Wolverton hit to left field for two bases, and McGee scored both runners with a hit to right. Two bases on balls, an error, two hits tallied an additional four runs for the Phillies in the fifth. After going out in order in the sixth, they added another run in the seventh and by bunching six hits and two bases on balls tallied four runs in the ninth inning.

Doolin's errors at first permitted the Pirates to score in two innings. In the fifth Ritchie was safe on Doolin's slowness in covering first and scored on Lynch's two bagger. Beaumont alighted to left and Kruger drew a pass, filling the bases. It looked good for a run, and Wagner was at the bat, Sparks having passed him both times before, but Wagner died on a foul fly to Wolverton.

Pittsburgh added three more runs in the seventh, Lynch got a life on Doolin's failure to have his foot on the bag. Cassady made his second single and Beaumont advanced both men with a hit to center. Kruger was given a base on balls, forcing in Lynch. Cassady scored on Wagner's error of Kruger at second, while Beaumont crossed the plate as Carlisch fanned Wagner at second. Diehl flied to Titus. In the ninth Cassady was safe at first on Doolin's fumble. Beaumont was safe on a slow grounder to Donohue, Cassady scored on Kruger's fly to Duffy.

Harry Smith had hard luck catching, being hit on the leg, knee, shoulders and stomach during the game, and suffering intense pain stuck bravely at his task. Diehl made a pretty running catch of Doolin's fly in the sixth. The score:

ARMENIANS WILL SEEK OUR AID

Will Ask America and Other Powers to Force Sultan to Stop Abuses.

STATEMENT BY DR. MELIKOW

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Foreign Secretaary Lansdowne will receive tomorrow H. Sarajian, archbishop of the Armenian church in America; Ayvadian, archbishop of Persia and India; and Dr. Jean Loris Melikow, representing the Armenians of the Caucasus, who form a commission appointed by the supreme patriarch of the Armenian church to visit the chief representatives of the great powers and appeal to them to compel the sultan of Turkey to establish and preserve order and tranquility in Armenia. It is expected that Lord Lansdowne will arrange for a reception of the commission by King Edward. The Armenians are going to Rome, Vienna and Berlin and thence to Washington, where they will present a personal letter from the supreme patriarch to President Roosevelt who will be asked as the head of a great Christian power, to apply pressure on the sultan to ameliorate the condition of the Armenian people. The letter describes the situation as very bad and says massacres have occurred at Mush and in the vicinity of Bitlis, Van, and Bayazid, in which thousands of persons have been slaughtered.

Dr. Melikow said: "We do not ask for separation, but simply for the right to live quietly without constant fear of outrages from the Turks. If the powers will unite in representations to the sultan and if necessary, send ships to Turkish waters, this soon will be granted us. It is not a question of war, but solely of moral pressure to which the porte will promptly respond. I notice that America has found it necessary to send a squadron to Smyrna to obtain compliance with demands which would never be granted unless this action had been taken. The visit of this squadron will be beneficial to Armenia, especially to the missionaries, whose position is very difficult, even in times of tranquility."

CROWDS SAW VESUVIUS OVERWHELM A GREAT CITY

Almost as Many Were Outside Pain's Showgrounds as There Were Inside.

Crowds packed Friendship park in the East End last night for the second week of Pain's fireworks, when the spectacle was "The Fall of Pompeii." The arena was crowded to its capacity and a large number of those in the seats were children. On the outside, lining the lawns of the streets which bordered on the show, there was another audience almost as large as that inside. These people were waiting for the fireworks.

Before Vesuvius let go and destroyed the city here were ballets with electric light effects, marches and parades that caught the eyes of those on the grounds. Besides there were many circus acts such as trapeze and ladder turns which were wildly applauded by those inside. There were ample space reserved for the various Roman pageants and they always brought out a round of handclapping, for over an hour this went on while the sinister likeness of the volcano in the background gave forth much smoke and steam. Then just after a butterfly dance by a number of girls the lights went out and the old volcano let loose with a thunder that resembled eight and 12-inch guns in a bombardment. Children screamed with terror at the noise, while temples fell on every hand and the flames could be seen licking up every part of the city.

Through this pandemonium the voice of the announcer could be heard proclaiming that there would be 30 minutes more of fireworks, and this stilled the noise. The fireworks were the best part of the show. There were fountains, waterfalls, and all sorts of revolving pinwheels and set pieces that made the bombardment of Port Arthur seem tame. These things practically delighted the children, who always wanted to know where the fiery snakes were going to land.

All this while was free to those on the outside except the portraits of Roosevelt and Parker, and the Republican nominee got all the cheers. The street car arrangements were excellent for many cars had to leave for down town with less than usual quota of passengers.

Bijou—"Lighthouse by the Sea."

Owen Davis had his eyes open for the proper sort of environments for sensational melodrama when he wrote "The Lighthouse By the Sea," which is being presented at the Bijou this week by a good company. The lighthouse offers countless opportunities for picturesque stage effects, combining the glamor of the sea with the exciting incidents in the life of a lighthouseman. None of these incidents have been overlooked by the dramatist. He makes the heroine do all manner of daring feats and in the end she is obliged to walk a clothesline in order to save her lover's life. The mechanical equipment is elaborate and assists in a wonderful measure in the realism of the stage effects. The characters are not drawn with the grotesque exaggeration with which many writers of hodge-podge modern melodrama mar their work. "The Lighthouse By the Sea" far exceeds plays of its class and is interpreted by intelligent actors. Wilhelmina Francis plays the part of the demure granddaughter of the old lighthouse keeper with a spirit that shows her to well fitted for emotional roles. She has excellent support throughout. Yesterday afternoon the Bijou audience was treated to a little bit of comedy business which had not been anticipated by the playwright. In a rainstorm scene, in the second act, the pipes directing the "rain" became misplaced and the water came pelting down on the actors, necessitating a complete change of costumes for the next act.

Academy—Bon Ton Burlesquers.

For years the Bon Ton Burlesquers have played an early season engagement at Harry Williams' academy and have never failed to please the patrons of that house. This week they will repeat their old-time stunt and from the size of the house they drew at yesterday's performances it is a pretty safe guess that they have added to their popularity. This year they have a clean show—a very decided improvement on their former burlesques. There are many new faces in the cast, but they are bright, cheery, happy faces and the greeting was familiar and encouraging to a jolly entertainment. The Bon Tons have the finest costumes that have yet been displayed by an Academy company. There are pretty faces in the chorus and some funny comedians, but things move with the stiffness of a new machine. After this combination of a few more rehearsals the Bon Tons will have the best show they have yet put out. The olio includes the Musical Simpsons, Fields and Cooks, Dutch comedians; the Livingstones, acrobats; Wilson and Adams, black face comedians, and Miss Grace Leonard, character comedienne.

AT THE TRACTION PARKS.

It is fun week at Southern park. Last night Dan Crimmins and Rose Gore began a return engagement at that pleasure resort before a large audience in their funny musical travesty, "A Warm Match." It is fun all through, strung together with witty dialogue, animated by quick action and elaborated by bright, catchy music. Miss Gore, in her lightning change from the character of "Dry Dock Liz" to that of a society belle, is a very good piece of stage art. Hanley & McAvoy carry on a regular cross-fire of comedy. Jack Warner comes in for his share of the honors; the Bell Sisters are a good team of comediennes and Valesca is a sweet singer.

Kennywood has band concerts by the Homestead Library band, which will continue all week. Dash, the daring bicyclist, who rides down an inclined ladder from a height of 100 feet, is a strong feature. His act is a free show and a thriller. He will remain all week.

DECIDES HOW MANY RED BEETS 14 COWS CAN EAT IN 20 MINUTES

"How many red beets can 14 cows eat in 20 minutes?"

This question, which might perplex the professor of any agriculture college, was readily solved by Alderman Means, in East Liberty, last night.

"A dollar's worth apiece," declared the judge, and the decision will not be appealed.

This is how it happened: Charles Adam conducts a truck garden in Morningside road. A short piece down the road, with a vacant lot separating the properties, John Koch runs a dairy supplied by 14 cows. Last Saturday the cows took a walk and stopped to inspect Adam's garden. They didn't think much of his corn, his oats or his cabbage. Adam acknowledges this. But they devoted their entire atention to a plot of red beets. They remained 20 minutes by the clock. How much did they eat?

In the absence of Police Magistrate Negley, who has been ill, Alderman Means was called to solve the problem and fix the damage. Witnesses, who claimed to be authorities, gave conflicting evidence. Some said the digestive ability of a cow dietel on beets was a dime's worth an hour. Others fixed a sliding scale up to $2 apiece. Koch said the cows worked double turn on their cud and appeared to be eating more than they really did. The judge said one dollar apiece for each cow and costs. The assessment was paid.

FIRE AT TOULON DOES ABOUT $400,000 DAMAGE

Nineteen Casualties Among the Troops. Loss from the Conflagration at Strassburg Over $375,000.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOULON, FRANCE, Aug. 8.—The fire which broke out at the arsenal here, at midnight, spread in spite of the efforts of the firemen, troops and sailors who were encouraged by the presence of generals, admirals and other high officers.

The famous slips built by Vauban, when he fortified the port in 1680, which were the pride of the arsenal, were destroyed. A number of workshops and stores were also burned. The fire broke out at the top of one of the slips and is believed to have been due to a short circuit.

The fire was gotten under control this morning, but broke out afresh this afternoon. It was finally brought under control late tonight. During the entire day squads of sailors and soldiers manned the pumps. There were 19 casulties among the troops, who have been dismissed and sent back to their barracks. Of the three torpedo gunboats which were lying at the burned slips two escaped to sea without injury but the other, which was unable to move, was seriously damaged. It is now estimated that the losses will aggregate about $400,000.

STRASSBURG, ALSACE LORRAINE, Aug. 8.—The damage by the fire which raged in the lower quarter of the city this morning and which destroyed a large orphan asylum and the Magdalen church, amounts to over $375,000.

WORE CLOTHES AWAY.

Woman Arrested for Shoplifting Has an Interesting Method of Work.

Arrested for shoplifting at the Horne-Stewart store, in Fifth avenue, a woman who gave her name as Mary Henry of Sharpsburg is held at the Central station, pending an investigation. At the Fifth avenue store it was alleged she had stolen a fancy collar, valued at $2.50. She carried a basket which was found to contain three leather belts and a silk waist. The three belts, it is claimed, were also taken from the same store.

Inspector Kennelly asked the woman where she obtained the waist, and she told him at Meyer Jonassen & Co.'s store. A waist which she was wearing and her coat bore the same marks, and all were identified by a representative of that concern. The woman said she had put the coat on while in the store, an hour before she was arrested. She had donned the waist in a Diamond street restaurant.

The woman is 50 years old. The inspector looked up the address she gave in Sharpsburg, 1017 Main street, and found that it was not bona fide.

To Settle Bar Iron Scale.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—According to the announcement made here today the board of conciliation on the bar iron scale between the Amalgamated association and the Republic Iron and Steel Company will meet in Chicago to settle the differences between the two sides. The conference committees will also be called together to meet there on the subject.

Outing of N. W. I. Students and Friends.

The third annual outing of students and friends of the North Washington Institute will be held at Almeda park, Butler county, Pa., Friday, August 19.

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS PLANNING COMBINATION

Ten Unions to Be Merged for the Purpose of Promoting Arbitration.

[The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 8.—Steps are in progress here for the formation of the largest labor organization that was ever conceived in this country and when the representatives of the building trades adjourn, the 10 national and international organizations will be merged into one. The idea was conceived by President Huber of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America some six months ago, and at a conference of the representatives of the interested unions the steps were taken which have led up to the present meeting.

The nine organizations represented in today's meeting are the International Bricklayers and Masons, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Operative Plasterers, Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators, Journeymen Plumbers, Steam and Gas Fitters, International Stationary Engineers, Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers.

All the representatives present declared that the primary object of the organization is to prevent hasty and ill-advised strikes. It was said after the meeting this afternoon that the new organization would take advanced grounds in favor of arbitration and that both local and international boards of arbitration will be provided for in the constitution.

INGERSOLL TO GO ALONE.

Pleasure Park Manager Fails to Make Satisfactory Arrangements With Thompson & Dundy.

Frederick Ingersoll, the local builder and manager of summer pleasure parks, returned yesterday from New York, where he went to confer with Thompson & Dundy, owners of Luna park, Coney Island. It was reported a few days ago that Thompson & Dundy had joined forces with Ingersoll and that together they had acquired Recreation park, Allegheny, for the purpose of reproducing there something on the scale of the Coney Island attractions. It now appears that a satisfactory arrangement could not be concluded with Thompson & Dundy and that the Pittsburgh park will be built and conducted by Ingersoll under the name of Ingersoll's Luna park. He has long had an ambition to build an ideal park, and local capitalists will, it is said give him carte blanche in the matter. Mr. Ingersoll has built and is running attractions in nearly all of the principal cities in the United States.

Plans for the new park in Allegheny have been drawn for some time, from suggestions made by Ingersoll. Active preparations are going on to begin work and the park is expected to be ready for opening next May and will be run till September 15.

ORDINANCE IS DEFEATED.

Street Railway Demand Will Be Referred Back to Those Who Want it.

At a meeting of the Wilkinsburg borough council last night the Wilkinsburg, Turtle Creek and East Pittsburgh railways amended ordinance, giving a right of way through Ross avenue was defeated. Protests from the Evangelical Lutheran church and 150 residents on Ross avenue were read.

A further amendment to the ordinance granting the company a right of way along Penn avenue from Penn and Swissvale avenues to the borough boundary line was moved when it developed that the company had no charter for the use of Penn avenue for 100 yards from Swissvale avenue and President D. E. Dontbett said the ordinance would therefore be illegal.

Borough Solicitor H. McIntosh said the company could file an amendment to its charter for Penn avenue. A motion to refer the matter to the ordinance committee was lost and the amendment was adopted by 5 to 4 and referred to the company for acceptance.

BIBLE SOCIETY TO REPORT.

Will Show Distribution of the Scriptures in 33 Languages in the County.

The executive committee of the Young Men's Bible Society of Allegheny county held a meeting in the parlors of the Central Young Men's Christian association last evening and approved proofs of their annual report, which is being prepared for the state association.

The report shows a distribution of 10,500 Bibles in 33 languages and dialects throughout the county. Collections aggregating $6,715 87 are acknowledged, with a surplus of $435 15 remaining after meeting the expenses of the year. Secretary Orr received permission to place Bibles in 17 languages in the West Penn hospital, making the fortieth institution in the county to have been supplied during the year.

MAYOR HAYS MAY DECIDE TO IMMOLATE HIMSELF

Talked of as Chairman of Citizens Party's City Committee a Place Nobody Wants.

Mayor Hays may become chairman of the Citizens party's city committee, to succeed the late Thomas S. Bigelow. The mayor may not care to take the place, but his acceptance of it would solve the problem just now confronting the Citizens. Nobody is particularly desirous of being the city chairman, and James W. Clark, the director of the department of charities, whom the rank and file loves, yesterday declared that he was not a candidate.

Mayor Hays said the other day that he did think the chairman should be an officeholder, but the difficulty is to find a private citizen of prominence who will have it. As the Citizens party long ago abandoned the cause that brought it into existence, the cause of reform, it has been concluded that, as the only reason for existence is to hold onto the offices, an officeholder had better assume the city chairmanship. For personal interest, it is agreed, Mayor Hays would naturally be interested in keeping up the organization.

A meeting to select a city chairman will be held sometime this week and Mayor Hays, Mayor Wyman of Allegheny, and Murry A. Verner discussed the situation yesterday in Mayor Hays' office. It was after that meeting that it leaked out that the mayor was considering the proposition to become the city chairman.

After the selection of the chairman the Citizens party, if present suggestions are carried out, will be a political party no more, but will call itself some name in which the word "Republican" occurs, for it has been announced that the Citizens will support the Republican county and congressional tickets this fall, so as to put themselves in line to vote at the next Republican primaries. Therefore, they argue, they had better divest themselves of the name under which they defeated the Republican organization. W. S. Guffey, an old line Democrat, yesterday proposed a name. "I would suggest that they call themselves the Boulevard Grafters' party," quoth Mr. Guffey.

The Republican county chairman, Thomas J. Ford, is not afraid of the Citizens efforts to control the Republican organization, and yesterday he left Pittsburgh for a two-weeks' vacation.

JUST TO MAKE YOU HUNGRY

Some Good Things About A Good Thing to Eat.

Sayings and Doings That Helped to Make a Great Food Popular.

Whether you live to eat, or eat to live, —Uneeda Biscuit.

My store having would be a source
To make me hunger more.
—Shakespeare, Macbeth, iv., 3.

When you order crackers sent with your other groceries and don't want them scented by your other groceries, tell the grocer Uneeda Biscuit.

When your grocer sends you something else,
And you feel afraid to risk it,
Send it back with a little note,
And say Uneeda Biscuit.

When your appetite says Uneeda Biscuit, you can't deny it.

An old colored woman went in one of our stores last week and asked the clerk:

"Is you got any soda crackers?"

Whereupon the clerk replied: "No; Uneeda Biscuit."

The old woman became highly indignant at the insinuation, and informed him that she didn't "need no biscuits," and had a whole spider full at home, "thank you."

For a munch or a lunch—Uneeda Biscuit.

If all the air tight packages used by the National Biscuit Company in one year were laid end to end they would make a string long enough to reach around the world eighty-seven times.

For the man who works from sun to sun—
Uneeda Biscuit.
For the woman whose work is never done
—Uneeda Biscuit.

When San Francisco folks are eating Uneeda Biscuit for breakfast, New Yorkers are having them for lunch, and the people in between are just getting hungry for more.

The rain comes down obedient to
The law of gravitation;
The common cracker soaks it up,
And causes aggravation.

How Johnnie recited the alphabet:

J K L M N O P Q R
S T Uneeda Biscuit

To encourage the appetite—Uneeda Biscuit.

The more we make the better they take, growing better with every bake.

Miss Whittaker, a prominent club woman of Savannah, Ga., tells how she was entirely cured of ovarian troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a Uterine Tonic and Regulator. I suffered for four years with irregularities and Uterine troubles. No one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental misery those endure who are thus afflicted. Your Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I was fully restored to health and strength, and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to be able to obtain such a remedy when so many doctors fail to help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had. Very truly yours, Miss Easy Whittaker, 604 39th St., W. Savannah, Ga."—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women prove beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

A SKIN OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREVER.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

SOCIETY

J. BISSELL SPEER of Center avenue, Shadyside, is making a visit of several weeks in Santa Barbara, Cal., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Cook, the parents of his fiancee, Miss Helen Cook. During his visit Miss Cook and Mr. Speer are making arrangements for their wedding, which will take place in October. It will be one of much interest to Pittsburghers. Mr. Speer will not be home for several weeks. The engagement of the young people was announced at the wedding of Miss Cook's cousin, Miss Mary Lee Williams and Frank Faber Brooks, in June, both of them having been members of the wedding party.

Miss Cook is a niece of Mrs. J. Halsey Williams, her father being a brother of Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Williams has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. E. Stockton, in Evanston, Chicago, Ill., for the past 10 days, but is expected home today. Her daughter, Miss Susan Williams, is now the house guest of Miss Daisy Miller, daughter of Chambers Miller, of Oshoto station, at the Miller summer home in Birch Falls, Canada.

Children's Annual Field Day.

The annual field day for the children of the South Side vacation school and summer playground, in South Side Recreation park, will be conducted this afternoon commencing at 2 o'clock. The exercises will include athletic events and an exhibition of the work of the children in the vacation school classes during the past weeks will be given. Nearly 2,000 children will take part. The average attendance during the morning hours, when the playground and vacation school were in session, reached 750. Gas lights have been installed on the grounds and make the place especially pleasant in the evening when the men of the neighborhood may even read their newspapers there.

Gone to the Catskills.

Miss Katherine Reed returned from Fort Meade, S. D., last Thursday morning and that evening left for the Catskill mountains, where she is the house guest of Miss Adeline Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer's daughter.

Judge and Mrs. Reed also left the city on Thursday evening and are now being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Macbeth at their summer home in Bethlehem, N. H.

Miss Katherine Pearson of Shields, with whom Miss Reed went to Fort Meade, where they were guests of Miss Pearson's sister, Mrs. George H. Sands, also came home that week.

Will Study Music in Bonn.

Miss Constance McCullough has written home telling of the delightful trip she is taking with Mrs. Thomas E. Pollard and her daughter and son, Miss Aida Katherine Pollard and Richard Pollard. The Pollards will return home some time next month, but Miss McCullough will remain in Bonn until next summer to study vocal music. The party is now in Germany. Miss McCullough's mother and sister, Mrs. Isabel Ross and Miss Mary McCullough, are spending the summer at their home in Atlantic City.

Second Wimodausis Outing.

The Wimodausis club will give its second outing this summer at Kennywood park on Wednesday afternoon and evening, September 14. It will be conducted like those which have been held before. During the afternoon the members of the club and their guests will play euchre in the pavilion and in the evening the dancing pavilion will be reserved for the use of the club and its friends. The arrangements for the entertainment will be in charge of the social committee.

The Scullys Are at Deer Creek.

Mrs. Henry R. Scully and her children, Miss Margaret Scully, Miss Janet Scully, Arthur Scully, Rees Scully and Donald Scully, formed a little party leaving town yesterday for Deer Creek, near Harmarsville. They will be the guests of Miss Milly Spring for a few days. Miss Spring came from New York early in the summer and opened her summer home at Deer Creek. Mr. Scully is spending part of the summer in Somerset county.

Auto Trip to Conneaut.

An automobile party left last Saturday for Conneaut, to remain over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dixon of Thomas boulevard, and Mrs. Dixon's sister were in Mr. Dixon's new Pierce automobile which was received last week. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Banker had two or three friends with them in their automobile and the third car was filled by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kemp and their children.

The McKinneys Are in Dresden.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. McKinney, of Aiken avenue, who went abroad earlier in the season, are now in Dresden. Other cities in Germany and Holland will be visited before they sail for home from Antwerp on September 10. Miss Katherine McKinney, who has been visiting friends in Knoxville, Tenn., for the past eight weeks, is expected home in a few days.

The Machesneys Are in Paris.

Souvenir post cards were received in Pittsburgh yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Haines Allen Machesney, who are now in Paris after having made a leisurely tour of the principal cities of Ireland and France. At the conclusion of their stay in Paris they will travel through Holland and England expecting to arrive in New York early in September. They went abroad late in June.

At the Lighthouse Inn.

Mrs. Anthony W. Smith of Rose Ridge, Boggs avenue, Mt. Washington, and her daughter, Miss Vera Miles Smith, left on Saturday for the Lighthouse Inn, Point Chautauqua. Next Friday they will be joined by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony W. Smith, Jr., and Mrs. Jane Hall, who expect to remain a month or six weeks.

Sharpsburg Girl Engaged.

Mrs. Samuel B. Thompson of Sharpsburg has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Catherine Anderson Thompson, and Dr. R. Russell Huggins, also of Sharpsburg. The wedding, which will take place during the early part of September, will be very quietly conducted at the home of the bride's mother.

Engagement Announced at Homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Haupt of Homestead announce the engagement of their daughter, Retta, to M. A. Richman of Pittsburg. Miss Haupt will be at home to her friends on Sunday, August 14, at 525 Dixon street, Homestead.

Engagement and Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Patton of Lafayette avenue, Allegheny, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth T. Patton, and G. Edward Koerbel of Pittsburgh. The wedding will be a quiet home affair the latter part of this month.

Notes of Society.

This evening Mrs. George H. Albertson of Stanton avenue will leave for Atlantic City.

Palmer Collins left Sunday evening to join his mother and brother, Mrs. Henry E. Collins and Fletcher Collins, in Hyannisport.

Mr. and Mrs. William Macrum and their daughter, Adeline Macrum, will leave on Friday for Bethel Point, where they will spend the remainder of August.

Invitations were issued yesterday by Mrs. James M. Hamilton and her daughter, Miss Helen Hamilton, for a card party next Tuesday afternoon at their home in Oakmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Kitzmiller of Hawkins station returned last evening from an over-Sunday visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Timken of Canton, O.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ross Lyons chaperoned a party of young people to Kennywood park last evening in honor of their house guests, Miss Laura Higgins of Chicago and Miss Ethel Deardorf of Dayton, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Head are going on Thursday to Mackinac Island. Later in the month they will make a trip west. Mrs. Head's mother, Mrs. Howard Morton, and her son, Marcus Morton, intend leaving for Detroit next Monday to take the lake trip.

BOARD IS WROTH AT INCOMPETENTS

Medical Authorities May Annul Charter of Several Schools of Doubtful Character.

BOY DISAPPEARS AT SHORE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 8.

The Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Examiners met at Haddon hall this morning and began computing the averages of the medical students who recently took the state examination. The members present were Dr. H. M. Connell, New Brighton, Pa.; Dr. Guy McCandless of Pittsburgh; Dr. Joseph E. Willetts of Pittsburgh; Dr. M. P. Dickerson of Glen Riddle and Dr. W. D. Hamaker of Meadville. The names of the successful applicants for an M. D. degree will be given out Wednesday morning.

The charter of several medical colleges may be revoked by the board because the institutions are said to be graduating students who are not competent to be entrusted with the lives of patients.

Such in substance is the threat made some time ago by Dr. Henry Beates, president of the board. It was caused by the examination of the papers recently sent in by applicants for state license to practice medicine in Pennsylvania. So great is the number of failures to pass the state board each year that Dr. Beates is indignant at the colleges which graduate the unsuccessful applicants.

At the board examination last December 40 per cent of the applicants failed to pass. In June of last year 18 per cent failed. There are now 376 applicants for physicians' licenses in Pennsylvania, whose papers are in the hands of the board. The percentage of those who have failed to answer the required questions is great. A large number of colleges of this and other states, and even a few abroad, are represented in these applicants.

It is thought that if the state board of medical examiners decides to take the action against the colleges which Dr. Beates has in mind, the college faculties will be notified that their curriculum is not comprehensive enough to meet the demands of the board. In the event of their disregarding the warning the legislature may be resorted to in an effort to annul the charters.

Arthur Bond Robinson, who left his home at 17 South Bellevue avenue last Wednesday morning, has not been heard from. The local and out-of-town police authorities have failed to throw any light on his whereabouts.

Last Thursday night it was rumored on the steel pier about 10:30 o'clock that a boy had fallen overboard. A life boat was put in service by several of the spectators who, however, failed to find trace of anyone in the water. The boat was put out a second time by another party, who were positive they saw a lad fall over the railing. This search was equally futile. Several people who were on the pier at that time are firmly convinced that they saw a boy fall into the water, and hold to the theory that he was drowned. It is thought that he might have been young Robinson.

Robinson left his temporary home without any money, other than a little loose change. He was a student at Jesuit Sacred Heart college and a resident of Denver, Col. He is 15 years old, five feet six inches high and was last seen at the Inlet Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Page of Franks-town avenue, with their children, Florence, Grace, Olive, Myrtle and Madaline, are at the Hotel Islesworth.

William T. Gwyer of 2416 Malakoff street, who is employed at May's drug store, and William J. Pugh, of the same address, an employe of the Bessemer Coke Company, are at the Ariel for a week's stay.

Jerry Green, 2811 Elliott street, and George V. Andrew, 511 Poppleton street, are at a private cottage.

A. C. Schwab, 312 Ella street, is at the Kingston.

Joseph Gallagher of Natrona is at the Alvin.

Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Beattie and H. G. Womsley are at the Auditorium.

A large party of Pittsburghers is at the New Holland. It includes George D. Lindsay, C. H. Lindsay, Carrie Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Sitten of Wilkinsburg; Mary Kerr, 1700 Cliff street; Emma and John Young of Haysville; Mr. and Mrs. A. Price of Allegheny; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shoop, 1201 Federal street, Allegheny, and W. A. Lanning.

F. C. Newell and wife and Miss Charlotte Newell and Miss Frances Patton, all of Wilkinsburg, are at the Iroquois.

T. J. Cookley of the Hotel Rivers, Pittsburgh, is at the Traymore.

T. S. Hamilton is at Haddon Hall.

Mrs. William Freeman, with the Misses Lydia and Retta Freeman, 211 Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Mrs. William Clark, 215 Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg, are at the Watkins.

F. Pearl Sellers and Anna M. Kewes are late arrivals at the New England.

Miss Lena Mae Foltz is spending the season at the Tred Avon.

While playing ball at the Inlet park this afternoon, Capt. Soffel of the P. A. C. club broke the third finger of the right hand. The finger was set by Dr. Richard Eitzman of Pittsburgh, who happened to be on the grounds, and Capt. Soffel finished the game.

Among the Pittsburghers in the grandstand at the game between the P. A. C. and Passyunk Fisherty, the star twirler of the Pittsburgh National league team.

Thomas P. Walsh, Mrs. M. Walsh and Rose H. Walsh of 5438 Baywood street, East End, are at the Grand Atlantic.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Benjamin of Montrose avenue, Allegheny, are at the Iroquois.

Thomas Kileen of 7900 Frankstown avenue is located for August at the Hotel Haines.

O. J. Negley is at the Strath Haven.

Mrs. M. Jason is at the Chelsea Haven.

F. J. Brady has apartments at the Clarendon.

Mrs. C. H. Stadelman is at the Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Harper and Howard C. Harper of 72 South Thirteenth street are at the Melrose.

Pittsburghers registered at The Gazette bureau on Young's pier today were: Ruth Rhodes, Eleanor Rhodes, F. J. Venning, Jr., J. S. Barker, W. C. Anderson, William C. Cox, Harry Herron, Alice C. Croley, Bertha Murphy, B. Hughes, Mrs. W. H. Smythe, Mrs. Joseph Merriman, Miss M. Logue, Miss Della Merriman, Mrs. F. C. Hammet, Dr. H. B. Patton, Harry Burden, Harry Firestone, Bella Firestone, A. CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The devotional hours of the week conducted by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman will have the additional attraction of Fred Butler, a baritone of unusual power. Mr. Butler is giving his talent exclusively to religious work. Prof. Moulton lectured on "Literary Structure as a Key to Biblical Interpretation," and said in part:

"Many may wonder what the literary structure of the Bible has to do with the saving of souls. Unless you understand the grammar of sentences you cannot get the real meaning. The analysts and divisions of literary structure are as essential to the meaning as is the grammar of the Bible. My advice to all is to read a whole book at a sitting if you wish to understand the real meaning. Doctrines may all be supported by verses, but not by the whole book. The Bible, as a study, is neglected in our education of today."

Prof. S. C. Schmucker delighted his large audience this afternoon by an unusually interesting lecture on "My Foster Children." Prof. Schmucker might claim sole ownership of several of these particular pets. Few in his audience could care for such playthings, although every one thoroughly enjoyed the accounts this eminent naturalist gave of what he termed "my humbler foster children." The first was a Gila monster sent from Arizona, a lizard clothed in coloring of jet black and salmon pink whose only characteristic was a phlegmatic nature; the next was a rat, common every-day rat, who was scrupulously clean in his habits; the third an opossum who was a fitting reminder of the old saying, "We lose respect for all mankind who snarls and doesn't bite." The next was an owl from whom we learn a cheap receipt for obtaining a reputation for wisdom. "Keep both eyes wide open and the mouth shut."

Mr. Surette of Columbia university gave an address at the C. L. S. C. round table on "How to Study Music." He illustrated his ideas with reproductions from musical compositions. A great many who are interested in music, but who are not musicians, availed themselves of this opportunity to hear Mr. Surette.

Dr. Ira Landrith, secretary of the Religious Educational association, gave an instructive lecture on "Religious Education." An interesting discussion on "Causes of Diseases" took place at the meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Dr. Bainbridge and Bishop Vincent gave brief addresses. The comic opera, "Pinafore," was repeated this evening by the choir orchestra and soloists.

THE FIRST LESSON

That the young girl has of womanhood is not seldom a painful one. She learns to know what headache means, and backache, and sometimes is sadly borne down by this new experience of life.

All the pain and misery which young girls commonly experience at such a time, may in almost every instance be entirely prevented or cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity. It tones up the general health, and cures headache, backache, nervousness and other consequences of womanly weakness or disease.

"I received your letter some time ago, with advice about your wonderful medicine, writes Miss Stella Johnson, of 53 Irving street, Dayton, Ohio. "I was troubled with severe pains every month when I wrote to you for advice. After receiving your letter and following its directions, I am now happy to say that after years of untold suffering I have not had any pains since first using your 'Favorite Prescription.' I was induced through a friend to write to you and follow your kind advice. I thank God and Dr. R. V. Pierce for the health I now enjoy. I shall urge other women who suffer as I did to use your medicine."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

STOCK MARKET HELD WELL UNDER THE ADVERSE TURNS

The Boom in Wheat, Rumored Friction in the Billet Pool, and Additional Labor Troubles Were Some of the Factors.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday underwent another rather severe test of its staying qualities. The three main factors were the reports of further damage to the spring wheat crop, the rumored friction in the steel billet pool and the lockout in the New York building trades. The only encouragement in the news for the bulls was the further slight recovery in English consols and the strength of London's quotations for American securities. During the opening hour the tone of the market was fairly firm and moderate advances were scored. Among the gains that was thought to be significant was that in St. Paul, which sold up to 148¾. This stock Wall street depends upon to reflect sentiment regarding spring wheat conditions. Atchison and Rock Island were also firm and fractionally higher, and Pennsylvania and the Pacifics advanced. A few minutes after the opening of the wheat market, stocks began to weaken, but the declines in the railroad list did not extend to more than ½ to ¾ per cent. On the decline trading became extremely dull, and a scarcity of offerings, a feature that has been conspicuous for more than a week past, was once more in evidence. Late in the afternoon there was a good rally, in which Southern Pacific was a leader, and the railroad list closed steady at only slight net losses compared with Saturday.

The feature of the industrial group was the weakness in U. S. Steel preferred. The stock opened lower at 89¼, declined to 88⅝. There was a quick rebound to 89½, followed by another reaction which carried the price down to 88, and the final bid was 88⅜, a loss of 1 per cent for the day. The common stock declined to 31⅜, but thereafter bonds remained dull but steady all day. Wall street attached much importance to rumors of friction in the steel billet pool as a result of the transaction reported in The Gazette last week, whereby the Republic Iron and Steel Company agreed to convert 110,000 tons of pig iron into billets for the Pittsburgh Steel Company at a price equivalent to $19.25 for the latter. The pool price is $23, and the Republic is a member of the pool. According to rumor, the billet pool had taken cognizance of the deal and a meeting had been called to consider the matter. According to Wall treet gossip, the outcome of this meeting would determine whether there would be an open market on billets, or whether the Republic would share its contract with other members of the pool.

American Cotton Oil, Sugar and Amalgamated Copper were quite active during the early part of the day, and the two first named advanced to the highest prices reached during the session.

The remarkable strength of wheat and the great activity in the speculation really dominated interest yesterday. The new September option opened unchanged at 84½, advanced to $1.01⅜ and closed at the top. There was a sympathetic advance of 1 to 6 cents in corn, but the stock markets did not follow the advance here, closing lower, but foreign trade authorities are apparently as bullish on the situation as anyone on this side. The London Statist, for instance, estimates a deficit in the world's supply of wheat this year at 190,000,000 bushels, basing its calculations upon the same contributions from Argentina and Australia as last year and taking into account the shortage in the United States and the exporting countries of Europe. The underlying strength of the market, whether it is purely speculative or based upon legitimate conditions, is demonstrated by the manner in which the market absorbs the large receipts that are pouring in from the farm to primary points and yet continues to advance. Yesterday's figures, covering two days, showed receipts at primary points to the west of 1,392,000 bushels, as compared with 728,000 bushels for the corresponding two days last year. The shipments were 493,000 bushels, against 230,000 bushels a year ago. Notwithstanding the amount of wheat that is "coming into sight," the visible supply yesterday decreased 850,000 bushels, against 815,000 bushels a year ago.

There was no change in the call loan market yesterday, the rates closing at ⅝ to 1 per cent. The announcement that the National City bank would defer the shipment of $2,500,000 gold engaged last week for export today had no effect whatever upon sentiment.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday trading was light and one-third of the total sales consisted of Lustre Mining, an inactive stock, which advanced a dollar a share to 12 and reacted to 11¾. Sewer Pipe was also a dollar a share higher at 21. The usually active stocks were rather heavy. Pittsburgh Coal preferred declined to 54½ and the common closed offered at 18¾. River Coal common sold unchanged at 8, and the preferred remained steady at 19½ bid. There was very little doing in the steel stocks, but Crucible preferred closed ¼ lower at 98 and the common declined ⅛ traded in to the extent of only 19 shares. Westinghouse Electric was quoted ex-rights, but only 72 shares changed hands and the price was nominally unchanged at 79 to 79½. Brewing common declined a fraction to 25¾, although the directors declared the regular quarterly dividends on both classes of stock. The remainder of the list was without feature.

FEATURES OF THE DAY.

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges were $6,366,082, a decrease of $277,000.

Pittsburgh Brewing declared the regular dividend on the common and preferred.

The stock market remained dull and the active issues averaged lower.

Luster Mining sold to the extent of 601 shares at 11½ to 12.

IN WALL STREET.

The boom in wheat and more labor troubles had little effect on stocks.

Trading became dull when prices declined and the market closed steady.

The sales included 339,200 shares stock and $3,223,000 bonds.

United States Steel preferred was weakest and closed 1 per cent lower.

Friction in the steel billet pool the alleged cause of the selling.

Gold exports were deferred and call loans remained easy.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Charles A. Painter, president of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, returned yesterday after several weeks spent at Watch Hill, R. I. On his way home he stopped in New York to look over the situation. He said: "Wall street is taking more interest in the labor situation than in the presidential campaign. In fact, it looks as though the election had been discounted so far as the stock market is concerned. These labor strikes, however, are arousing a strong spirit of antagonism, and a feeling that they might as well be fought to a finish. As to the stock market, it has been pretty well tested by recent events and displays an underlying strength that is encouraging. It is the best opinion in Wall street that good railroad stocks may be bought on any moderate recession from the present level of prices. There is unquestionably a growing confidence that next year there will be a revival of activity in industrial circles. The reported friction in the steel billet pool is probably only a little cloud that will blow over."

In local brokers' offices yesterday the chief interest centered around the Chicago grain ticker, and houses which make a specialty of that trade did a good commission business. One thing which gives more confidence in a further rise is that thus far the movement has not resulted from any attempt to "corner" any of the options, although the old September option is now thought to be in a position where there would be a minimum of risk in manipulating a squeeze. A member of one of the largest Chicago houses expressed this opinion after the close of the market yesterday: "We don't like to get sensational, and there is, of course a great tendency to exaggerate in times like these. The situation, however, seems an unusual and critical one. With an estimated shortage of 100,000,000 bushels in the world's requirements, based upon calculations before the damage occurred in the northwest, the reports today of additional damage becomes a serious matter. After so great an advance it is foregone conclusion that much horseshoeing will result, but on the present outlook and the present tenor of the news from the northwest, we can only advise buying wheat on sharp breaks."

The directors of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividends of 1¼ per cent on the common and 1¾ per cent on the preferred, payable August 21 to stock of record August 12.

There is no explanation for the heaviness in Pittsburgh Coal preferred, except that the demand is limited, there is apparently no effort to support the stock, and the dribbling lots which come upon the market are sufficient under present conditions to produce a heavy tone. The business last month and thus far in August justify the estimates that the net profits for the last six months of the year will be better than for the first six months, and even the latest period carried the dividend on the preferred was fully earned.

"Well, I guess insiders want all the Westinghouse Electric treasury stock that is not taken by stockholders at $80 a share," was the remark of a broker after the close of the local market yesterday. "If they wanted to encourage subscriptions they would have manipulated the price so as to make the difference between the market and the subscription price look attractive." The stock was quoted ex-rights yesterday, but inasmuch as the rights were worthless there was no change in quotations. The committee on securities of the New York stock exchange has made the following ruling relating to dealings in the stock: That all transactions in the first preferred and resulting stock of said company made on Monday, August 8, 1904, except for "cash," shall be "ex-rights." Certificates delivered after August 8, 1904, for contracts made prior thereto, or other "cash" sales made on and after August 9, 1904, must be accompanied by an "assignment of rights" or a due bill for the same. Sales of "rights" made on and after August 8, 1904, except transactions made specifically for "cash," must be settled on August 11, 1904, on which day all due bills must be redeemed. Transactions made in "rights" on and after August 11, 1904, must be for "cash" or regular way. The right to subscribe terminates on Monday, August 15, 1904, at 3 p. m.

Sugar rose with sustaining effect on the list from the belief that a large fruit crop would make a large demand from the canning industry.

Metropolitan Street Railway's advance was due to the often-revived rumors of a combination with the Interborough Rapid Transit.

H. B. Frothingham, the New York money broker, who probably handles more business for the banks than any other individual in Wall street, says he looks for a 10 per cent call money market to continue until after the election.

The net earnings of Wabash for June increased $428,000. The net earnings of Chesapeake & Ohio for the same month increased $87,000, and for the fiscal year increased $855,000.

Figures compiled by A. B. Starr, general superintendent of freight transportation of the Pennsylvania lines west, show that the coal and ore shipments for the month of July greatly exceeded the shipments of July, 1903. Mr. Starr reports that about 10,000 cars of coal or 900,000 tons were carried from Pittsburgh to the lake ports in July, an increase of 7,000 cars over July of 1903. From the lake ports 16,000 cars or 800,000 tons of iron ore were shipped southward, an increase of 725,000 tons over July, 1903. This is the record shipment of ore for any one month.

It is estimated that the United States Steel Corporation has charged $66,000,000 to improvements and depreciation in the past two years and nine months.

The final rally which occurred in wheat was based upon Crop Expert Snow's summary covering the past week, as follows: Weather conditions have favored propagation. During the week rust has appeared in 12 counties in Minnesota, the most important being the Bigstone, Blue Earth and Yellow Medicine, where it appears to be spreading rapidly, and where there is yet an average of a week before harvest. It has also appeared in five counties in North Dakota, had in Sargent, Traill and Richland and light in Barnes and Pembina. Crop here two weeks from harvest and there is danger of further developments if present weather continues. Harvest is practically completed in South Dakota, with enough rust damage to cause correspondents to lower their crop estimates nearly 25 per cent.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A meeting of the Calumet & Arizona directors will be held in Calumet the latter part of this month when the quarterly dividend payable in September will be declared. It is intimated that the quarterly disbursement will be increased from $1 50 to $2 a share, but this will depend upon the condition of the metal market.

At a meeting of the directors of the Calumet & Sault Ste. Marie Development Company, held in Calumet this week, it was decided to make the final payment on the property under development on the north shore of Lake Superior in Ontario. Capt. William Ashton, who is in charge of the work, says the outlook is favorable, and the shaft will be sunk to the vein in a few days.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Lake Superior & Arizona Mining Company will be held in Globe, Ariz., August 20. Preliminary to this meeting the Lake Superior shareholders meet in Calumet and ratify the proposed plan of the directors for the reorganization of the company. It is planned to form a new company whereby additional funds will be obtainable.

Considerable mass copper is being secured at the Michigan mine. A shipment of nearly 1,000 tons, including one 150 ton mass, was forwarded to the smelter recently. Rock shipments to the Mass mill, where one head is used, average 475 tons daily. Results from the Branch vein are satisfactory. The formation has a width and the rock coming from the stopes on the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh levels is of a good grade.

Arrangements have practically been completed for the erection of a smelting plant at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., just across from the American "Soo." John J. Case, who was formerly superintendent of the Lake Superior Smelting Company, previous to which he was identified with the Boston & Montana, Montana, is associated with a number of capitalists in the enterprise. There are a great many mining properties under development in Ontario, and it is thought that a custom smelter will fill a long felt want. Copper country capital is furnishing the means for the opening of some promising copper and nickel prospects in that region.

The output from Uintic district, Utah, last week was 107 carloads, of which the Centennial Eureka shipped 42, the Mammoth 20, the Gemini 12 and the Grand Central 11. The other shipments came from 16 other properties which hauled from one to five carloads each.

It is reported that the Columbus Continental of Alta proposes to call for an assessment of 20 cents a share in order to raise $80,000 to clear off the debts of the company. The Continental Alta is experimenting in order to determine the best method of treating of the large bodies of milling ores in the property.

Mining men of Butte, Mont., have invaded British Columbia in the purchase of the Bayonne group of mines. The syndicate is composed of William Scallon, former president of the Amoonda Copper Company; John Gillie of the Butte & Boston Company; C. W. Goodale and others who are connected with the Amalgamated and allied companies.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The London tin market was a shade lower, closing at £121 17s 6d for spot and £122 7s 6d for futures. Locally the market established with the English decline and closed lower at $26 70@26 80.

Copper was unchanged in London, closing at £56 17s for spot and £56 18s 3d for futures.

Locally copper was quiet. Lake Erie was quoted at $12 50@12 75; electrolytic at $12 50 @12 75 and casting at $12 25@12 50. Lead was quiet and unchanged at $4 20@4 25 in the local market, but in London it closed slightly lower at £15. Spelter was unchanged at £22 in London and at $4 85@4 95 in the local market. Iron was unchanged at 51s 9d in Glasgow and at 43s 3d in Middlesboro. Locally iron was unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $14 00@14 50; No. 2 foundry northern at $13 75@14 00; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern soft at $13 50@13 75.

$35,000 LAND SALE IN MORNINGSIDE

Shaw Property Is Bought by a Local Investor and Will Be Plotted.

NORTH SIDE DEAL OF $22,000

Through W. B. Rath of the Land Title & Trust Company the Shaw property, in the Morningside district, has been sold to a local investor for $35,000. The former owners were Belle R., Martha C., and Blanche M. Shaw, and Mr. and Mrs. John Christy. The property consists of 8.5 acres situated a little back from the Morningside road and near the Morningside school house. It adjoins the Stanton Heights allotment of the Keystone Realty Company and the Adams acreage. Fifty foot streets will be cut through the tract and the usual street improvements made this fall. In the spring the property will be put on the market in 30 and 40 foot lots. This is the first large sale in this vicinity for months, and shows that some investors still have faith in the long-delayed Morningside street car line. Vigorous efforts are now being made by Morningside property owners to get the line built this fall and if this is done the property just sold will be in the direct line of rapid improvement.

Allegheny Flats Exchanged.

Contractors Golden & Crick have disposed of the two flat buildings at 409-411 Marth street, near Marion avenue, First ward, Allegheny, for about $22,000. The buildings are four story brick structures and occupy a lot 40x90 feet. Golden & Crick secured them two years ago in an exchange deal. The eight flats in the buildings rent for $18 a month each, making the total annual rental investment a part payment for the flats there was tendered vacant frontage in the extreme East End, valued at $12,000.

Col. Frank T. Rutledge yesterday got title to the site for the Eighteenth Regiment armory at Craft avenue and Emily street. The Fidelity Title & Trust Company handled the transaction. The consideration named in the deed is $100,000. The property faces 188 feet in the east side of Craft avenue, and 405 feet in Emily street and contains 3.16 acres. The old Clarke residence is included in the purchase. The armory drill hall to cost $25,000 will be erected on the site.

Building News of Interest.

Most of the projects in architects' hands have now been figured or have already been awarded to contractors. Comparatively little new work is coming on the boards, although the outlook for fall building is improving distinctly. The best contract awarded since the letting of the work on the Allegheny county jail addition, was awarded by Architect Marius Rousseau to P. Selvaggi & Harris for the building of the Monessen Savings and Trust Company. The building will be a three-story brick and terra cotta structure costing $40,000.

Architect E. J. Schlentinger is taking bids on the three-story brick store and apartment house of Mrs. E. W. Davis at 531 Collins avenue, East End. Architect H. D. Gilchrist is receiving estimates on a $12,000 brick and timber residence for P. S. Matters, to be erected on Herbert and Wightman streets. Bids are being taken by Architect S. N. McCloskey for a $9,000 cement block residence for Samuel N. Bauersmith, assistant cashier of the Pennsylvania National bank, at Oakmont.

The First Congregational church has received a permit for its new building to be erected in Diltbridge street, near Forbes street, at a cost of $74,000. The new building will be a stone structure one and one-half stories high. The congregation is now worshiping at Fifth avenue and Washington avenue, Mt. Pleasant. Shaw & Conover took a permit yesterday for a one-story brick chapel in Forty-fourth street, Seventeenth ward, to be built from plans by Architect S. F. Heckert, at a cost of $2,000. M. H. Fleming received a permit for a three-story brick addition to the warehouse at 958-960 Penn avenue to cost $28,000.

Improving New York Tenements.

The first report of the tenement house department of the city of New York is of more than passing interest now, in view of the efforts of the Tenement Improvement Company to provide better quarters for the laboring classes in this city. The report contains maps of the city, plans for flats, instances of abuses and flagrant violations of the building ordinances. In some quarters of the city the property owners were so greedy, the report states, that they removed the plumbing fixtures and left the pipes open to emit nauseating sewer gas. Dumb waiter shafts were found to be used for disposing of garbage and fecal matter, of which vast loads were often found in a single cellar. Many buildings were saturated with water after every rain.

The report is illustrated with dozens of photographs showing the condition of the flats before and after taking the treatment prescribed by the department. This work is unique as no other city in the United States has a similar department of housing, and the Hon. Seth Low, ex-mayor of the city building bureau, the health bureau and other branches of the city government. A total of 384 persons were employed in the department, of whom 166 were inspectors. The work is conducted along non-partisan lines and the report just issued shows that hundreds of cases were found and remedied where the building laws were either being openly violated or where the tenements needed renovating badly.

Will Rent the Apartments.

E. A. Hess & Co. have secured the renting agency of the Kinder apartments at Western and Cedar avenues, Allegheny. Alterations will be compiled about September 15. The building will contain one store room and seven five room flats, which will rent at from $40 to $55 a month.

LARGE ARRIVALS OF HOME GROWN PRODUCE

Cabbage and Tomatoes Advance in Price—No Change in Groceries or Butter.

Big arrivals of home-grown vegetables was the feature of the local produce market yesterday. Corn, cabbage, potatoes, tomatoes, beans and peas are all in large stock, and most of them tend to lower prices. Two exceptions were cabbage and tomatoes, both of which were marked up in price. Raspberries are out of market. Fancy cantaloupes were off 50 cents a crate and the Indiana varieties were also quoted lower.

All reports point to an enormous crop of plums this season. In Ohio, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania the crop is reported to be larger for years and lower prices are looked for soon. Elberta peaches and fancy pears were both quoted higher yesterday.

In the grocery market no changes were noted in quotations. The market for flour and coffee continues firm with a tendency to higher prices, and sugar is also selling well. Reports from Elgin made the same quotations for butter that prevailed last week.

The hay and grain market was not active and the day's receipts were only fair. A break is expected in the price of new hay at any time as the receipts are getting heavier every day and little old stock is being purchased. Hay is still a slow seller. More straw is arriving this week and prices are quoted lower.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 17 cars hay, 4 cars corn, 2 cars oats, 6 cars corn and oats, 6 cars straw, 2 cars feed; Baltimore & Ohio, 15 cars hay, 10 cars oats, 2 cars corn and oats, 1 car straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car corn, 2 cars straw.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The coffee market opened steady at an advance of 5 points, and following the call showed considerable activity and firmness on bullish Brazilian cables continuing the rate of the present and prospects for the coming crop, while buying was also encouraged by the firmness of European and primary markets. Demand seemed to improve as the session progressed, the firmness having attracted fresh buying orders from commission houses with cotton exchange connection and in the afternoon prices reached a net advance of 9@15 points. Later prices eased off slightly under realizing, closing steady at a net advance of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of 132,250 bags, including September at 5.35@6.40c; October at 6.45@6.50c; December at 6.60@6.70c; January at 6.75c; March at 6.90@7.05c; April at 7.00c; May at 7.10@7.20c, and July at 7.25 and 7.35c. WHEAT GOES OVER THE DOLLAR MARK

Sensational Rust Reports Create Wildly Excited Market, Closing With Net Gain of 3 5-8.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—On a wildly excited market, with sensational reports pouring in regarding damage from rust in the northwest, wheat today made a net gain of 3⅝@3¾c. Corn is up 1½c. Oats gained 1@1¼c. Provisions are unchanged to 10c better. Nothing quite so radical as today's sharp rise is value following the continued advance last week has been witnessed in the wheat pit for a long time. According to private dispatches, the whole northwest had apparently been more or less affected by the deadly rust. Reports indicated loss of the entire crop in some sections, while the percentage of damage in field after field was described as extremely heavy. September wheat, which opened strong with a gain of ¾@1c to ⅞@1¼c at 97¼c to 97¾c, went to 99⅞c in succession of leaps with but momentary pauses when holders were satisfied with the profits realized. Many such sellers, however, and bears in the pit, who have been scoffing at the increasing advance of rust encroachments, were in the big rush for grain and carried the price of September to $1 01⅜. There were bearish features in the foreign news and statistics showed the shipments for the week to have been over a million bushels, but such news was overlooked in the general fright which appeared to possess traders. Realizing that the market was being closed against the advance temporarily and caused a reaction to 99¾c, but final figures showed the buying craze on again in nearly full force. September closed at $1 00⅜@1 00½, a gain of 3¾@4c. The amount of wheat on passage was 39,640,000 bushels, against 38,712,000 bushels last week, and 24,228,000 bushels a year ago.

The visible supply was 22,093,000 bushels, compared with 13,093,000 bushels last week, and 13,099,000 bushels last year. Clearance of wheat and flour were equal to 141,000 bushels. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 352 cars, against 330 cars last week, and 541 cars a year ago.

Corn was strong chiefly owing to the influence of the general excitement. It was emphasized by reports of firing in Southern Illinois and Missouri on account of dry weather. September opened ½ to ⅝c up at 52⅜@52½c, but in spite of a brisk demand from the part of some of the larger traders, the price advanced to 53¼c before being checked by selling orders induced by reports of excellent progress of the crop in some sections. The surprising action of wheat, however, stopped the declining tendency and after touching 52¾c, strength was renewed until 54c was reached. The close was firm at 53¾@53⅞c, which is the high point, but the tone was firm on the final figures, 54¾c. Local receipts were 255 cars, with 21 of contract grade.

Oats were steady at the start, with September ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. Wheat and corn exerted an influence and overcame bearish tendency in the early trading due to heavy receipts and excellence of grading. With the upturn in the other pits, the market advanced to 33¾c, but lost some of the gain on realizing sales. The close was firm at 33½@33¾c. Local receipts were 411 cars.

Provisions were easy, early sales showing little change from yesterday's closing prices. There was a liberal offerings from outside sources and a decline, followed by a reaction on buying credited to the packers, but the market was inactive. Closing prices showed September pork unchanged at $12 45. Lard was unchanged at $6 77. Ribs showed a gain of 10c at $7 57½@7 62½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 250 cars; corn, 302 cars; oats, 602 cars; hogs, 16,000 head.

NO MORE ICE FOR RETAILDEALERS

Packing House Strikers Play What They Consider to Be Trump Card.

TEAMSTERS PLEDGE SUPPORT

(By Associated Press to The Gazette.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The union teamsters are to be the principal weapon which the labor leaders propose to use to win the stock yards strike. Orders were issued today to drivers of ice wagons to deliver no more ice to butchers who buy of the big packers, or to any of the branch houses of the packing plants where the men are now on strike. A list of more than 200 retail dealers, who have been buying meat from the so-called trust packers and hauling it away with their own wagons, has been compiled, and according to the claims of the strike leaders the ice supply will be cut off from every one of these places tomorrow morning. Arrangements have been made to have pickets stationed at all the retail markets which have been placed under the ban of the unions, to see that the boycott is enforced to the limit.

Today's order prohibiting ice deliveries to the retailers is a duplication of the one issued last week, but which was never enforced because it had not been sanctioned by the international officers of the teamsters' union. At Cincinnati, where the International Brotherhood of Teamsters was in session today, the necessary indorsement of the proposed boycott was given and the belated order will be put in force tomorrow morning.

New Men Hold Firm.

All the packing plants began operations here today with slightly increased forces, nearly 200 additional employes having been secured over Sunday. Nearly all the new men who left the yards Saturday night to spend Sunday at their homes, returned to work this morning. Among those who reported for duty today were a considerable number of the strikers who, according to the packers, had become tired of being idle and this morning made application for the places they held prior to the strike.

The live stock receipts, consisting of 19,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs and 20,000 sheep, were naturally all bought up by the packers today. This fact, the packers claim, is positive evidence that they now have the situation well in hand, and are in such a position that it is a matter of little concern to them how long the strikers hold out.

An additional detachment of police was ordered to report to the stock yards station tomorrow morning to aid in protecting a Lake Shore & Michigan Southern train which is expected to arrive with an additional strike breakers. These men have been employed in various cities throughout the east and among them, it is said, are between 200 and 300 skilled workmen.

The committee of aldermen and labor representatives who were to have called on Mayor Carter H. Harrison to present a statement in regard to alleged violation of the building and health ordinance in the packing plants where strike breakers are being housed, postponed action until tomorrow.

President Donnelly said this afternoon that he was in communication with the National Live Stock Growers' association relative to the organization in Chicago of a co-operative packing establishment to be run by the strikers. Vice President Smith, who arrived in the city today from San Francisco, discussed with President Donnelly the co-operative packing system now in existence in Oakland, Cal., where, he said, butchers who were locked out three months ago are in business for themselves with such success that the packing companies are entreating them for some kind of a settlement. There, he says, the operators of the rival industry have the backing of the Pacific Live Stock Growers' association.

Teamsters Promise Support.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—The closing day of the annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters was devoted to arrangements for a general sympathetic strike in the interests of the butchers and meat cutters' union. Resolutions were adopted first indorsing the action of the packing house teamsters at Chicago, and then similar resolutions were adopted specifying Kansas City, St. Joseph, Omaha and other packing house centers. Then a general resolution was adopted pledging the full financial and moral support of the Brotherhood of Teamsters to the packing house strikers.

The constitution and by-laws having previously been amended so as to substitute strike benefits for an indefinite period instead of for four weeks, President Shea announced that this action meant that the teamsters would exhaust their last cent in the packing house contest. He also announced that he would immediately issue an appeal to all the locals in the United States and Canada for funds to be used for strike benefits at the packing house centers. Every delegate was pledged to go home and begin work once in the locals for financial assistance.

PITTSBURGH'S MEAT TRADE BACK IN OLD RUT

Plenty of Cattle and Dressed Meat Now Found in Local Markets.

The meat situation has settled back into the usual rut of trade and little out of the ordinary was visible in the business yesterday. About 3,800 cattle were received at the Herrs Island stock yards. Prime heavy beef cattle were scarce and prices were firm at last week's quotations. Most of the cattle arriving were light grassers and found slow sale. This was aggravated by the holding over of 25 carloads of cattle from last week's market. Nearly 40 more carloads were reshipped Friday and Saturday to Jersey City to avoid the rest Sunday, as given out today in the local yards as "stale" cattle.

The market yesterday was dull and heavy, with a much smaller crowd of buyers than on the previous Monday. At 1 o'clock there were over 40 carloads of cattle still unsold in the yards. Grassers that sold at $3 40 and $4 45 early in the morning sold after noon at $4 20. Reliable dealers stated that the market for cattle was at least one-half cent lower than when the packers' strike began and one-fourth cent lower than a week ago.

Last week the Pittsburgh Provision and Packing Company butchered 830 cattle. No extra help was employed and the company had no trouble in taking care of its orders. Considerable western meat was delivered to the market butchers yesterday and nobody reported that any trouble in getting all the meat wanted at fair prices. Home dressed veal and mutton is stronger in the market and the hog market was firmer yesterday than last week. Sales of meat are still considerably under what would be expected under ordinary circumstances, but a revival in trade is looked for this week.

BILLET POOL IS IN BIG DISPUTE

MEETING HAS BEEN CALLED

Much trouble in the billet pool is reported as a result of the recent deal between the Republic Iron and Steel Company and the Pittsburgh Steel Company for 110,000 tons of billets. Informal conferences have been in progress for several days over the matter, and a meeting of the pool or "association" is expected today or tomorrow at New York.

The gist of the matter is that the pool charges the Republic company with "cutting," it is understood on the other hand that the Republic company believes that the pool price of $23 per ton, Pittsburgh, has been a nominal price for some time past. It is said that the Republic company thinks that it has lost considerable money by holding to the association price through the past six months.

The methods of dodging the association price, which it is alleged have been followed, are rather devious. It would be discovered, for instance, that an order for billets filled by a company operating under the pool agreement, would be different in chemical constitution from that supposed to be furnished by the steel concern, and, therefore, a rebate to make up for the difference in quality would be allowed. In this way the pool price would be equalized with the market price.

Insisted on Lower Price.

The Republic company's plan was a more open one. When the Pittsburgh Steel Company went into the market its determination was to secure its billets for a year, or as nearly a year as possible, in a single contract. Its plan was equally fixed to secure that contract on a basis which represented the market price more truly that it was represented by the association agreement. It figured with several concerns for a short while, it is said, and then closed with the Republic.

As already announced in The Gazette, the price of the steel at Monessen was practically $19 25. Between that price and the pool price of $23, Pittsburgh, there is a big gap. Rumors repeated for months past that the $23 figure was being improved upon by buyers did not receive much attention from the large producers, the reason being that very little new business was to be had at any price. The bulk of the contracts for billets were on a sliding scale basis, which made the purchasers in those cases sharers of the general decline. Even when the rounding about plan mentioned above was pursued, the orders were not large ones.

The cuts which were rumored were not believed to be made on large orders, and the announcement of the details of the prices, etc., at which the Pittsburgh Steel Company's big order was filled, caused dismay.

What will be done about the matter remains to be seen. The Billet association has passed through various other crises from time to time and come out stronger than ever. It may weather the present one, although there is much talk of the disruption of the pool entirely or of the Republic company being forced out.

Caused Trouble Before.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company's contract has been a prolific source of disputes between steel companies in the billet pool. The contract was held last year by the Clairton Steel Company. When the plans for the United States Steel Corporation taking an interest in the Clairton had reached a stage when all seemed certain of accomplishment last year, the billet contract with the Pittsburg Steel Company was assumed by the Carnegie Steel Company. Then the plans fell through and the Clairton company found itself without the big contract. Notice was served on the billet pool that that contract had better be returned, and it was returned very promptly. All went well then until the plant was assumed by the Steel Corporation, and the Carnegie Steel Company took hold of the operations. The latest development loses the contract to the latter company.

As Viewed in New York.

A special telegram from New York to The Gazette received last night, follows:

"At the local offices of the Republic Iron and Steel Company today, E. W. Parker, eastern sales agent of the corporation, gave the following explanation of the alleged cut in the price of billets:

"The Pittsburgh Steel Company is an independent organization engaged in the manufacture of wire nails, etc. Sometimes it buys its steel billets of its outright. In that case we have always given it a price that has not caused any comment in the billet and bar association to which we belong.

"But in this matter the Pittsburgh Steel Company bought its own pig iron and asked us to convert it into steel. We did so at a profit. It was none of our business what the Pittsburgh Steel Company paid for iron. We charged it what we thought it was worth to convert iron into steel. We have broken no agreement with the other companies. What we have done any other member would have had a right to do without censure. Who we did it was published in Pittsburgh last Thursday. It seems to have taken a long time to be made known here, and then in a way that misrepresented us, for so far as we know there is no danger of a war in steel prices.

"Persons in Wall street who saw United States Steel preferred drop one whole point before noon were not inclined to take the Republic Iron and Steel Company's explanation too seriously. They thought that it was only whipping the devil around the stump to admit that the result of the arrangement with the Pittsburgh Steel Company was that it would get 110,000 tons of steel for $4 a ton less than its competitors, to be delivered in the next 10 months, beginning in September. The drop in steel stocks was undoubtedly caused by the fear that there was impending a rate war in steel."

PYTHON SCARES PREACHER INTO STOPPING SERMON

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 8.—Elwood Zeak, an evangelist from Cincinnati, was preaching at a camp meeting of the River Brethren, 18 miles from here today, when he caught sight of a snake crawling toward him. He gave a wild leap from the platform, emitting a shriek of terror. Then yelling "Snakes!" at the top of his voice he broke for the woods. There was an immediate panic among the campers, who rushed after the terrified exhorter. A snake charmer, who traveled with a show which was exhibiting near there appeared. Her favorite python had escaped. With little difficulty she recaptured the reptile.

THREE NORFOLK PEOPLE DROWN AT SEASIDE

RICHMOND, VA., Aug. 8.—John D. Armstrong, of the firm of John D. Armstrong & Co., of Norfolk, Va., oyster packers, and his 10-year-old son, together with a third person, not yet known, are reported to have been drowned today at Little bay, opposite Old Point Comfort. Armstrong was sailing his boat out for from his summer home on Little bay when a sudden squall threw him into the water. The father and son drowned together, and the other lost his life by jumping into the water to rescue the drowning men.

Church Outing at Conneaut Today.

United Presbyterians from throughout Western Pennsylvania hold their annual outing at Conneaut lake today. A special train will leave over the Ft. HOW VOTERS ARE DISFRANCHISED

Queer Custom of County Commissioners That Takes Ballot from New Home Owners.

REGISTRY AND TAXPAYING

If the county commissioners have not yet been mandamused because of their peculiar method of keeping the tax books, it is only perhaps, because the average property owner is not particular whether he votes or not, or because he does not know that he has other rights, when it comes to paying taxes, than the county commissioners choose to accord him.

That the county commissioners are stretching their prerogatives is held to have been demonstrated yesterday by a visit which a citizen paid to the treasurer's office. This citizen owns a little property, but he was not yet ready to pay the taxes on it, as it is not until next spring that a lien will be placed on the house for non-payment of taxes. What he did want to do was to pay his occupation tax, his poll tax, so that if this vote should be challenged at the coming November election he could produce the receipt entitling him to cast a ballot.

The law says that no man may vote unless he shall have paid "a state or county tax" within two years preceding the election. The visitor to the treasurer's office knew this. He knew, too, that the occupation or poll tax which he wanted to pay to escape challenge at the polls amounted to only 60 cents; he knew that the tax on his home amounted to $7 30, and he concluded that it would be cheaper to pay the occupation tax and secure a receipt for voting purposes, postponing the payment of the other tax until a more convenient time. He never owned property until recently.

Refused to Separate the Taxes.

To his surprise the clerk refused to separate the two taxes. "But," said the citizen, "according to law I am entitled to vote if I pay 60 cents, my occupation tax, but you want to make me pay $7 90. You're putting a penalty on the ownership of property."

"The county commissioners are doing it," said the clerk. "They will not allow us to separate the taxes. Your occupation and property tax are both together on the books and you must pay both before you can get a receipt."

Further investigation developed the fact that a mere custom of the county commissioners has more force than the law. In Philadelphia county the personal and property taxes are separate, so that a man can pay either one or both, but the Allegheny county commissioners' system of bookkeeping prevents residents of this county from exercising the right.

By putting a hypothetical case the injustice entailed can be made more glaring than in the case of the citizen just mentioned. One may suppose a rich man who owns a valuable property on which he lives and on which he owes as much as $200 county taxes. It may not be convenient to him to pay the money before election. He desires to have a receipt to prevent his vote from being challenged successfully, and his occupation tax amounts to $3. Under the commissioners' ruling he must pay $203, although, if he and his property were in Philadelphia, $3 would be enough to entitle him to vote. Real estate is responsible for the taxes assessed upon it and can be sold at sheriff's sale, yet in practice the commissioners add a second penalty, deprivation of the privilege of voting.

An Attorney Wants to Wager.

"The commissioners are in the wrong," said a well-known lawyer, to whom the case of the $7.89 man was submitted. "An occupation tax is a personal tax and is separate and distinct from a tax on real estate. By paying his personal tax a man does not escape responsibility for his real estate tax; after paying the latter tax he is still responsible for the personal tax. Merely because the commissioners, to simplify bookkeeping, refuse to compel men to pay both taxes at one time, or to join together, is no reason why any man should be deprived of his legal voting rights. If the county treasurer refuses to separate the two taxes and give a man a receipt for whichever one he desires to pay, he can be mandamused and I'll wager the courts would soon decided the position taken by the commissioners wholly untenable. I would go still further: Suppose the case of a man who does not own any real estate, even the house he lives in, but has money out at interest and owns stocks and bonds that are taxable. He may desire to put off the payment of the taxes on personal property and undergo the 5 per cent penalty imposed by law, but he may want a receipt for his occupation tax, to entitle him to vote. Well, here are two kinds of personal taxes. If any taxes might be dumped and the taxpayer compelled to pay them, they would be personal taxes, but I'll wager again that the county commissioners would be ordered by the court to give the man a receipt for his occupation tax alone."

Thousands Are Disfranchised.

With their system of bookkeeping the county commissioners annually disfranchise thousands of citizens. Take the case of a man who has been paying an occupation tax only. He buys his own home. Election day approaches and he wishes to qualify himself for voting. He has until next spring to pay the tax on his house but he must, within 20 days of election, pay a "state or county tax" to entitle him to the privilege of the ballot. He is confronted with the commissioners' ruling, and not having the money with which to pay all his county taxes, he pays nothing and loses his vote.

Election day this fall will be on November 8 and the man who has not paid a state or county tax, no matter of what year, within two years preceding election day, will forfeit his vote, if he should happen to be challenged. To save that vote he can pay his tax as late as Saturday, October 8, the last day of the 30 days preceding election.

It behooves the citizen to see that his name is on the registration books of his ward, for while registration is not, in this state, a necessary qualification for voting, the fact that one is registered may serve to refresh his memory as to election day. The registration books are, under the law, supposed to be hanging up at the polling place in each election district since May 8. If a voter is not registered he can meet the register-assessor at the polling place on September 7 or 8 and have his name entered. If he is not registered after that date he can become registered only by going before the court and asking that his name be entered upon the registry list. After October 8 even that cannot be done.

Sully Withdraws Offer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Daniel J. Sully & Co. today informed their creditors that they would be unable to carry out the proposition made by the firm to the creditors last month to pay off 40 per cent of the claims in cash, with 10 per cent additional in the form of 60-day notes. The inability to keep this agreement, it was stated, was due to the fact that certain individual creditors would not withdraw their claims. The firm, therefore, will go into liquidation.

'Tired, Tired

Tired. That one word tells the whole story. No rest. No comfort. No particular disease. Just all tired out. Fortunately, physicians know about Ayer's Sarsaparilla. They prescribe it for exhaustion, anemia, depression, general debility. $1.00. All druggists.

No mater what ails you nor what medicine you take, you cannot get well if your bowels are constipated. Cure this once by taking Ayer's Pills, just one pill each night. These are a great aid to the Sarsaparilla.
